Crawford Boy Killed In Scuffle With Brother

SHOT AS RIFLE IS KNOCKED TO KITCHEN FLOOR

Friendly Tussle Ends In Death For Boy, 10, as He Gets Ready to Go Hunting.

PARENTS AWAY AT TIME

Child Dies on Way to Doctor; Shot Through Heart By .22 Caliber Rifle.

BUCYRUS—Shot through the heart by a .22 caliber rifle that was accidentally discharged in a friendly scuffle with a younger brother, Charles E. Nelson, 10-year-old son of Mr and Mrs. Otto Nelson, was fatally wounded at the family home near Sycamore, north of here, yesterday afternoon. The youth died while being taken to a Sycamore physician.

Young Charles was shot when the rifle, which had been propped against a cupboard, discharged as it was knocked to the floor while he and his eight-year-old brother, Otto, jr., wrestled.

Returned From School.

The two boys had returned home from school about 4 p. m. and were preparing to go hunting in a woods near their home when the accident occurred, Otto said.

At home at the time the child was shot was an older brother Lloyd, 17, who summoned a neighbor, Richard Dunlap, to take the child to the office of a Sycamore physician. Charles died en route to the physician's office. The family home is located two miles southeast of Sycamore.

Parents In Tiffin.

The child's parents had gone to Tiffin and were not home when the accident happened. Surviving are the parents and three brothers, Otto, jr, Lloyd and Dwight.

Charles was a student in the fifth grade at the Sycamore school

The body was removed to the E. W. Moore funeral home at Sycamore. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Ousted Austrian Prince Married To Actress Protegee

VIENNA, Austria — (U.P.) — Prince Ernst Rudiger Von-Starhemberg, leader of the outlawed Fascist Heimwehr guards, and Nora Gregor, popular actress of the Bourg theater, and mother of a four-year-old son, were married today.

The semi-private ceremony, performed before 20 invited guests, took place in a suburban church at historic Kahlenberg on a mountain overlooking Vienna and the Danube river.

Miss Gregor became one of Austria's foremost actresses largely through the influence of the prince before he was ousted as vice counsellor by Chancellor Kurt Von Schuschnigg a year ago.

Now that he is married, Austria and the world will hear more of the prince politically, according to persistent reports circulated among prominent members of his Heimuehr guards.

Sideshow Fat Lady Falls Out; It's A Job For 5 Policemen.

Neighbors tugged in vain, then called police. Five huskies finally hoisted her back in bed.

It was a three-quarter-hour job.

Puts O. K. On Relief Fund Of 2 Millions

Tax Conferees In House Brush Aside Davey's Plans for Needy.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Virtually brushing aside Gov. Martin L. Davey's relief program, the house taxation committee recommended today passage of a bill to make from $2,000,000 to $2,500,000 immediately available for relief.

The bill would authorize issuance of short term notes against anticipated balances in the utilities excise and selective sales taxes after providing for bond retirement and interest.

Further speeding up a relief program the committee recommended passage of a bill to add $500,000 to the $6,000,000 already allocated from the sales tax for relief next year.

An amendment to the sales tax law would divide an estimated $1,250,000 above bond requirements, next year, between the schools and relief requirements, the schools getting $750,000 and relief $500,000.

Drawn by Committee.

Both recommended measures had been prepared by the joint unofficial relief committee as part of its program.

The governor had recommended only the $6,000,000 sales tax allotment and the amusement tax amounting to $1,500,000 for next year, with nothing for this year.

Sounds of the senate "hatchet men" whetting their weapons became audible today after the administration budget, calling for $2,831,333, had been introduced in the house.

Before the senate was a supplemental appropriation bill asking only $100,000 additional for five departments next year and providing nothing for the remainder of this year.

Of the total administration budget, $603,759 would be provided for the remainder of this year and $2,227,574 for next year.

Sen. Emerson Campbell (D., Belmont), chairman of the senate finance committee and one of the "hatchet men" who chopped down the governor's original budget at the first special session last summer, introduced the bill almost simultaneously yesterday with the administration offering.

He said that before any definite allotments were made to the tax and civil service commissions, the highway and liquor departments and the fire marshal's office, the senate finance committee would make a thorough investigation of their needs.

The committee would be able to act without special appropriations

DARKNESS OVER

Boy, 12, Blind Since Birth, Sees For First Time.

EL PASO, Tex.—(U.P.)—Everything in the world was a curiosity today to Julian Galindo, who is 12 years old and never saw the light of day until surgeons removed cataracts from his eyes yesterday.

The first things he saw when he opened his eyes at Southwestern General hospital were faces, and the furniture o' the room. But the window caught his attention and there he sprang.

"Look, there's the car I came here in And there's a bicycle. I know it's a bicycle. And oh, there's a tree. It's beautiful."

He had no words to explain the lights and colors except "wonderful," and he stood there several minutes before the joy of it overcame him and he began to cry.

Another Pioneer Band Starts Historical Trek Into Northwest Territory Tomorrow

Party Leaves Ipswich, Mass.—Will Reach Mansfield May 3.

Following the path of the original march into the Northwest territory, made 150 years ago by the Northwest Territory caravan, a new pioneer party will set out tomorrow from Ipswich, Mass., to recreate that long and hazardous trek, staging historical pageants in each of the towns it visits.

Mansfield will be on the route of the caravan, which is due to reach this city on May 3 next year, and will present its pageant here.

The pioneer party of 1937-1938 will, to a marked degree, be a true reproduction of the original, even to the ox-team, Conestoga wagon, costumes, equipment and "belongings."

From Six States.

The personel of the party is made up of picked men from the six states of the old Northwest territory and New England, costumed by the government, as this is a federal project, terminating next year in observance and celebration by all of the Northwest territory states.

They were assembled nearly a month ago, and have been in daily rehearsal for the pageant which will be produced along the route.

The two towns of Ipswich and Hamilton are now in the midst of a three-day program. Festivities opened with a banquet to the "pioneers" at which ten governors and other dignitaries were present, followed by a colonial ball to the honor guests, those of Ipswich and Hamilton appearing in true colonial dress.

The first day's trip of the caravan will cover only ten and one-half miles, to Peabody, Mass., where the first production of the pageant will be given. On the second day the assemblage will gather at the old church where the "farewells" will be said and the pioneer party will form. Afterwards the ox-team and Conestoga wagon, which were brought overland from Marietta, O., will start out.

Twenty Miles Daily.

The daily trips will average from 18 to 20 miles. A two-day stop will be made at Newburg, N. Y., where an elaborate program has been arranged.

From there the caravan will head for the mountain country and arrive at West Newton, Pa., which in pioneer days was Simmerell's Ferry. Here the party will pass 10 weeks in camp, build log cabins in which to live and construct the boats on which they will float to Marietta, down the Youghiogheny, Monongahela and Ohio rivers.

Former Gov. George White of Ohio, chairman of the federal commission, will spend a month with the party and take part in the boat building—two flatboats and three pirogues—exact duplicates of those of 1788 They will be launched about April 1.

The party will go by these boats to Marietta, arriving April 7. The ox-team and Conestoga wagon will travel overland from West Newton to Wellsburg, W. Va., just as it did in 1787, then taken aboard one of the flatboats a few days later.

Many original pieces, assembled at Marietta, are included in the equipment sent to Ipswich, and will be carried by the caravan when it starts out.

Through the states of Northwest Territory the routing of the caravan is dependent upon cooperation of the states with the Federal Commission and it is impossible to give points at which stops will be made until all state routings and arrangements are completed

JAPAN'S BOMBS KILL HUNDREDS

1,000 Civilians Wounded or Dead After Air Raids on Chinese Town.

SHANGHAI—(AP)—Chinese dispatches from Hangchow today said more than 1,000 civilians were killed and wounded in a Japanese air raid on Hsiaoshan, about 12 miles southeast of Hangchow.

Five hundred dead and wounded noncombatants were reported found in the ruins of buildings destroyed by Japanese incendiary bombs. Those buried in the wreckage were not immediately extricated.

Scores were made homeless by the destruction of 1,100 houses in Hsiaoshan.

Two Chinese airplanes raided Japanese positions at Shanghai today in the first aerial attack in more than a month.

One bomb dropped near the former anchorage of the Japanese flagship Idzumo, near the Japanese consulate, but did no damage.

Japanese said the Chinese planes operated at a height of 10,000 feet, successfully evading pursuit craft.

They declared, however, that in an air battle near or over Nanking six Japanese planes shot down 13 of China's new soviet-built airplanes.

'CAT' CAPTURED

London's 'Flannel Foot' Thief Overtaken by Scotland Yard.

LONDON—(AP)—The law at last has caught up with "Flannel Foot," the elusive burglar pain to Scotland Yard for 25 years.

Prosecuting Counsel Christmas Humphreys at Middlesex Sessions today said Henry Williams, 49-year-old London clerk who pleaded guilty to 40 charges, chiefly house breaking, was the man whose ghost-like burgling kept all London's police on tenterhooks.

Williams was sentenced to five years' penal servitude.

"Flannel Foot," who usually wore flannel socks over his shoes, actually faced only six specific housebreaking charges But he intimated he wished to plead guilty to the 34 other charges,

"Flannel Foot's" frequent use of a bicycle to make a getaway earned him the additional nickname of "bicycling demon."

JAPS TO PARADE

March Through Shanghai Streets To Celebrate Victory.

SHANGHAI —(AP)— Municipal authorities received notice today that six battalions of Japanese troops will march through the Shanghai international settlement tomorrow in a victory parade.

Police planned to guard the line of march of the conquering invaders. Foreign observers, however, feared a possible hostile "incident."

CHIEF'S CAR STOLEN

Hunter to Announce List Of Appointees In 10 Days

Mayor-elect Considering Pile of Applications, Says He'll Submit Choices to Campaign Committee.

While speculation about who will be named to the city's official family kept Democratic wags in huddles about town, Mayor-elect Claude M. Hunter announced today that his appointments would be made "very shortly."

"Within the next week or ten days I hope to have a meeting with the campaign committee and submit my list for their approval," Hunter said.

"I don't want to take all the responsibility for making the selections and I think that every one should be given the fullest consideration," he added.

Studies Applicants.

Hunter said he was in no hurry and that he was "considering carefully" more than a hundred applications piled up on his desk at home.

He didn't know, he said, what a task he had taken on himself when he filed his petition with the board of elections last summer. "And it's only the beginning," he sighed.

No comment was forthcoming from Hunter as to who would be selected to the six major posts to be filled when he takes over the reins of the city government in exactly a month.

Meanwhile, among political observers, general agreement grew stronger that Tracy D. Styert, Mansfielders See Phenomenon in Northeast Sky.

A number of Mansfielders were a bit startled last night at the appearance of a meteor in the northeast sky, plainly visible and giving off blue and green light.

The meteor was seen as far east as Pittsburgh. Those who saw it said it resembled a comet, with a large tail. The meteor was seen shortly after 7 p. m.

'KIND' BANDIT

Robs Taxi Driver But Leaves Him 75 Cents 'For The Kids.'

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—A well-dressed man jumped aboard Moe Comberg's taxicab last night, pointed a gun at his head and made him hand over $5.75.

"How about eats for my kids?" Gomberg asked.

The bandit tossed him 75 cents and fled.

GREEN, LEWIS CONFER TODAY

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— George M. Harrison, chairman of American Federation of Labor peace conferees, said today that he believed William Green and John L. Lewis had achieved a "meeting of minds" as the labor chieftains met in a face to face conference to seek peace in the ranks of organized workers.

Harrison was hopeful that the leaders swiftly could dispose of the basic issues separating the federation and the Committee for Industrial Organization on basis of verbal understandings previously reached by labor's peace committees.

Both Lewis and Green, however, declined to comment on prospects of ending the two-year-old strife which has split ranks of the 7,300,000 organized workers. Lewis said he did not care to make "any pre-game statements."

The two arch enemies of the labor movement, both of whom rose from the coal mines through the same union to lead rival labor groups, were scheduled to begin their conference at 11 a. m. It

CLEAR UP THEFT

Police Jail Youth, Believe Car Lootings Solved.

With the detention of a 10-year-old colored boy in the city jail in connection with the looting of a bus driver's automobile Monday night, police said today they believed they would clear up a series of thefts that have occurred in the past several weeks.

The boy was held in the theft of 35 bus passes from the auto of John Zeigler, driver for the Mansfield Rapid Transit company, whose uniform blouse, containing the passes was stolen Monday.

Questioned at police headquarters yesterday, the youth admitted he took the passes and sold several of them to high school pupils.

$7,000 Air Race Cup Missing

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The Thompson tropy—that coveted piece of statuary valued at $7,000 and awarded annually to the winner of the world's greaest air race—is missing.

Its disappearance came to light when Rudy A. Kling, the Lemont, Ill., garage operator who won it at the National Air Races here in September, wrote the National Aeronautic association asking when he might receive the trophy.

Officials of the association are making a search for the trophy.

BUDD LOSES IN FIGHT TO WIN SON'S CUSTODY

Motion of Perrysville Man, Cited For Kidnaping Last Summer, Overruled.

William F. Budd, Perrysville father who was cited in Richland county last summer for kidnaping his nine-year-old son, was thwarted again yesterday in his 10-months' fight to win custody of the boy.

Acting on Budd's motion to have custody of the child transferred from the mother to him, Common Pleas Judge C. C. Chapman at a private hearing yesterday at Ashland overruled the motion and ordered that the boy remain with the mother until school closes and until the present school year ends.

Budd was denied the right to visit the boy until he pays back alimony said to be due his former wife and mother of the child.

Couple Divorced.

At the close of the school term, the boy, Billy Budd, is to go to his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs Samuel Budd, at Perrysville where each of the parents will have the right to visit him. The boy has been in the custody of his mother at Ashland since his parents were divorced last February. He is in school at Ashland this term.

Budd and his second wife, Freda, were placed on probation by Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston several months ago when they pleaded guilty to snatching the child from his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Samuel Bemiller at Butler.

Budd told Richland county authorities at that time that he had given up hope of recovering his son in Ashland county and seized the boy at Butler, hoping the custody of the child would be decided in Richland county courts.

The child, kept with friends in Detroit, Mich., for several days after he was taken by the father, was returned to Mansfield after Budd surrendered to Sheriff E. P. Long

HOUSE BREAKS LONG IMPASSE IN COMMITTEE

Petition, Demanding Action During Special Session, Gets 218 Signers.

'VICTORY' BRINGS CHEERS

Signatures Clear Path For Balloting on Proposal By Mid-December.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The administration today won its fight to free the wages-hours bill from the house rules rules committee which pigeonholed the measure last August. A total of 218 representatives affixed their names to a petition discharging the rule committee from further consideration of the bill and automatically bringing it up for floor consideration Dec. 13.

The petition to break the rules committee impasse was filed Nov. 16 by Chairman Mary T. Norton of the house labor committee. Energetic work by house whips and labor supporters completed the petition with only 48 hours to spare if the bill was to be acted on at the special session.

Representative Mansfield (D., Tex.) rolled up on his wheel chair to be the final signer, amid a roar of cheers.

They were preceded by Representative Connery (D., Mass.), brother of the late William P. Connery, co-author of the wage-hour bill, [illegible] and Champion (D., Ill.).

Gains Momentum.

The drive to obtain petition signers gained last minute momentum under a threat by wages-hours backers to sabotage cotton provisions of the farm bill unless southern representatives ceased their opposition to the labor bill.

The petition was completed in the midst of a house fight precipitated by charges of Rep. Hamilton Fish, R., N. Y., of log-rolling by adherents of the labor measure.

Fish introduced a resolution calling for appointment of a special house committee to investigate the vote-trading. His resolution developed a dispute when majority leader Sam Rayburn moved to place the inquiry proposal on the table. A roll call was ordered on the motion.

French Minister Heads For East In Peace Chess Game

PARIS—(AP)—Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos turned to the East today for the third move of Europe's many-sided diplomatic chess game, reportedly bearing the assurance that France and Britain would not give Germany a "free hand" in Central Europe.

Delbos arranged to leave this evening for Warsaw, the first stop on a 17-day tour of the capitals of Poland, Rumania, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia.

Informed sources in Paris viewed the trip as a definite sequel to this week's French-British diplomatic talks in London and the Nov. 19 conference between Britain's Lord Halifax and Chancellor Hitler of Germany.

Delbos will leave Warsaw next Monday for a short visit to Krakow, Poland's old-time capital, then continue on to Bucharest where he will stay until Dec. 11. He will spend two days at Belgrade and arrive at Praha Dec. 15, leaving for Paris three days later.

Delbos hopes to gain a new promise from Poland and the Little Entente — Czechoslovagia, Rumania and Yugoslavia — that they will keep their alliances with France.

11 ABOVE ZERO

Temperatures climbed slowly but steadily today, and were scheduled to go even higher tomorrow, but only after dropping to 11 degrees above zero last night, equalling the low mark of tha season.

At noon today, the temperature stood at 34, Observer Otto Spranger reported. The forecast said tonight would be fair and slightly warmer, with Friday also fair and warmer. The 24-hour average was 22.5, seven degrees below normal.

LEGGS AND BROKEN LEGS

PENN Yan, N. Y.—(AP)—The father broke his right leg when he slipped on a rug. His son came up with a similar injury to the left leg playing basketball. Their names? Harold and John Legg.

'Passing Parade' Cast Hard At Work as Show Date Nears

With rehearsals in full swing for "The Passing Parade of 1937," annual Christmas charity show on Dec. 18, there are some mighty busy spots in Mansfield these evenings, what with orchestra numbers, dance routines, song specialties and "acting" to be perfected.

If you should happen to be on the third floor of the Bird building, you'd hear a rhythmic taptap and stomp from the Marguerite Speas studio where nine girls, under the direction of Miss Speas are perfecting the routine of a "truckin'" number. And after they have rehearsed that, they swing over to their "Veni, Veni" number, working like ditch diggers at the business of trying to keep a straight line with all kicks at exactly the same instant and same height. Before the rehearsal is over they work for awhile on the military tap of "Dance of the Wooden Soldiers," and as they mop perspiring brows and slip into street clothes, some one says:

"Gee, I hope the families who get the Christmas baskets appreciate 'em, 'cause this is WORK!"

And at the Westinghouse auditorium, members of the orchestra are working on old and new numbers, for their music will weld together the entire show. They are rehearsing new effects for their Hawaiian number — which will be one of the hits of the show, we're predicting—and working on an arrangement of old Christmas songs for a finale, with a swing-time "Jingle Bells"

If They Seem Unusually Happy, They're Turning On Personality

If some 1,200 Mansfielders seemed unusually cheerful when they got up this morning—if they smiled at breakfast instead of showing the old scowl—if they came to work with a brighter outlook on life—there's a reason.

They were trying out a five-point formula for personality building advocated last night by Howard J. Wisehaupt, New York personality expert and character analyst.

Delivering the second of a series of three lectures at the Senior high school auditorium, Wisehaupt spoke on "Personality in Business." He closes his talks at 8 p. m. today when he discusses "How to Earn More Money." Wisehaupt's appearances in Mansfield are sponsored by The News-Journal, Chamber of Commerce, and Retail Merchants association.

He predicted last night that if his plan for strengthening personality were followed for two weeks, it would bring results. In brief his formula is:

1. Get up when you wake up in the morning and wake up when you get up; 2. Smile; 3. Say something nice to the wife about breakfast; 4. Breathe deeply; 5. Say something pleasant in the morning to the bunch you work with.

Going into detail about his plan, Wisehaupt emphasized the importance of getting plenty of rest and learning to make the mind master over the body.

"You can't influence others until you first learn to boss yourself," he declared.

He pointed out that the study of League Including Mansfield, Massillon, Canton Ready For Formation.

By OSCAR RUHL

WITH Mansfield definitely out of the N. C. O. conference and Sandusky threatening to quit the Buckeye league, the conference proposed several years ago is nearly ready for formation.

Earl Averill

The suggested membership of the circuit includes Mansfield, Massillon, Canton McKinley and Sandusky, and a serious attempt was made to organize the circuit a couple of years ago by interested Canton parties, but Mansfield and Sandusky were not available.

There are no indications that another attempt will be made to organize the league, but it can't be denied that it would make quite a circuit; unquestionably, the strongest in the state.

Mansfield is the only school now meeting all of the other proposed members on the gridiron.

THIS year's Mansfield high eleven is rated well down in the list compiled by Bill McKee, The Ohio Athlete editor. The Tygers are ranked 25th in the ratings headed by Massillon. Canton McKinley is second, with Columbus West following.

Employing the Dickinson system of rating, McKee places Bellaire, Elyria, Toledo Scott, New Philadelphia, Portsmouth, Youngstown East, Hamilton, Cincinnati Elder, Sandusky, Cleveland John Adams, Warren, Toledo Waite, Cleveland West Tech, Akron West, Wellston, Fostoria, Oberlin, East Liverpool, Toledo Devilbis, Middletown and Sidney ahead of Mansfield.

There is no question that Mansfield deserves a higher rating, but it will take an ambitious man to go through a pile of hundreds of records to prove it with figures.

Figures Show Defense Tops Offense.

THE squawk that the defense has become too strong in football is borne out in the Associated Press scoring compilation. The figures show a comparatively sharp drop in a continuance of the downward trend in scoring that has been more or less steady in recent years.

The 20 teams included in the compilation scored an average of 107.19 points for the season, while the 1,313 games they played produced an average of 12.6 points per game. The 136 teams included in the 1936 survey scored an average of 113.3 points per season, while 1,438 games were producing an average of 13 23 points per game.

One of the factors in reduced scoring has been the trend against the lateral pass and "razzle dazzle" type of offense.

It may be a good many years before another Pittsburgh team digs its cleats in the Rose Bowl turf.

Unquestiond sources in Pittsburgh say the athletic council will rule this winter against future grid squads competing in post-season games. This would fit in with the current plan to tone down the Panther powerhouse.

Trade Allen, Averill For Walker, Owen.

ONE of the proposed trades the boys at the minor league meeting are talking about will send Johnny Allen and Earl Averill of Cleveland to Detroit for Gerald Walker and Marvin Owen.

Why Cleveland should want to make such a trade is more than we can say, but, evidently, there is no reason to become excited. Allen and Averill appear to be fixtures for next year at least.

GREENWICH WINS, 18-14

Scores 18-14 Victory Over New Haven In League Tilt.

GREENWICH — Greenwich high's Twin-Valley league cage combine defeated New Haven, 18 to 14, here Wednesday night in a circuit game.

Trailing by a 6-5 count going into the second half, the Greenwich team, led by Zeigler, rallied to grab a 13-8 advantage and was never headed. New Haven outscored the winners 6-5, but was unable to overtake the leaders. Zeigler scored 13 points to lead both teams.

JOE MILLER LEADS RAMS

Fullback Elected Captain at Grid Banquet Staged at Madison High.

Joe Miller, who was selected as the fullback on this year's second Mid-State league team, was elected to the captaincy of the 1938 Madison high school football team at the annual banquet staged in the gymnasium by the "M" association last night.

Aiken Is Speaker.

Jimmy Aiken, coach of the Akron university football team, was the principal speaker at the banquet at which D. Osborne Meese, Mansfield business man, served as toastmaster.

"The most important characteristic demanded in a football player is fight," Aiken told his listeners. "Any team that has 11 fighters in the lineup is usually a winner."

"Football is beneficial to a boy," he continued. "It teaches the boys something they do not get in the textbooks.

The formula for a successful team, Aiken said, is divided into four departments. "First of all, you must have material," he stated. "The second important item is the coach, the third is the right type of schedule; not an easy schedule, mind you, but one that is arranged correctly, and fourth is publicity."

Aiken, who was a teammate of Pete Henry of Mansfield, an All-American twice, also told of his many interesting experiences in football.

The guests included J. Russell Murphy, Mansfield high school coach, and Jack Garcia, a halfback on the Akron club, who accompanied Aiken to Madison.

Awards Letters.

Fendrick made the letter presentations to Capt Bill Moritz Capt. Elect Joe Miller, Bill Wilkins, Martin Scheel, Buck Chronister, Bob Weimer, Gerald Higgins, Bob Wilkins, Oliver Au, Jack Priess, Bob Miller, Mel Harner, Dick Brightbill, Gerald Hershey, Doug De Nero, Gene Harmon and Bill Heichel.

The dinner was served by the domestic class and members of the Girls' Athletic association under the supervision of Lenore Miller, domestic science teacher.

BLAKE PINS RODRIGUEZ

Davis, Steele Win Other Bouts on Grapple Card Witnessed By Large Crowd.

Bobby Blake of Columbus strengthened his bid for a crack at the world's lightheavyweight crown next spring by pinning Jose Rodriguez, Mexican artist, in straight falls in one of the headline elimination tournament matches at the Armory last night before the largest crowd of the season.

While the clever Blake was taking the Mexican star, Sterling Davis, the "Silver Streak" of Tulsa, Okla., was registering his first tournament victory, winning on a foul over Mike Kibbons, the Houston, Tex., expert in the second feature attraction.

Blake resorted to a combination back break and body slam to pin Jose to the canvas in 13 minutes for the initial fall. The hold injured the Mexican and he was easy prey for the Columbus boy who annexed the second fall in one minute with the same hold.

The slippery "Silver Streak" battled Kibbons for 14 fast and furious minutes before he was able to connect with a series of terrific body slams for the first fall.

After the rest period both boys started slugging with Kibbons raining blows not only on his opponent but also on Referee Clarence Miller of Newark. Miller awarded the fall and match to Davis. The time was seven minutes.

Bob Steele, of Plymouth, won the preliminary attraction over Clyde Clifford of Texas. The farmer lad pinned the westerner with a spread eagle and body smother in 10 minutes of their 20-minute match.

Tygers, County and N.C.O. Teams Play Friday

The Tygers of Mansfield high will raise the curtain on the 1937-38 basketball season Friday night when they entertain Akron Kenmore on the Senior high hardwood.

While the Mansfield club is acting as hosts to Akron, the Richland county league clubs will swing into the circuit's first full week of play. Games on tap Friday night will see Ontario's defending championship club tackling Lucas at Springfield high, the Madison Rams invading Bellville and Union traveling to Butler.

Although no league games will be played this week in the North Central Ohio conference, Mt. Vernon's Yellow Jackets go into action by entertaining Upper Sandusky on Friday night, while on Saturday night the Shelby Whippets invade Norwalk for their inaugural tilt and Bucyrus meets Upper Sandusky at Sandusky.

OPEN SKED AT Y.M.C.A.

Class A Church League Cage Clubs Lift Lid With Interesting Games.

The championship race in the Church Class A basketball league got off to a fast start Wednesday night at the Y. M. C. A. with the Central M. E., First M. E., Mayflower and Temple Emanuel tallying triumphs in the opening round.

Central M. E.'s cagers grabbed an early lead they never relinquished as they defeated the Baptist, 29 to 10. With the count a 15-13 at the half the Central M. E. club, with Irvine leading the way, unleashed a 10-point rally to ice the game.

The First M. E. combine warded off First Lutheran's desperate last-period rally to come through with a 31-27 decision. Brown paced the winners with seven points.

In the other game Temple Emanuel put on a winning second-half rally to edge St. Johns, 34 to 29. St. John's held a 19-17 advantage going into the htrid period. Stern tallied 12 points to lead both teams.

Miller's Keglers Supply Fireworks

Oldsmobiles Roll 3066 Total to Lead Team Scoring In City Class A League at Meder Alleys; Leppo's 678 Tops Individuals.

DOUG MILLER'S Oldsmobiles again supplied most of the fireworks in the City Class A league at the Meder alleys last night.

The Oldsmobiles put together games of 1043, 1009 and 1014 for a 3066 total, which was good for a clean sweep over the Meder Recreations.

The Olds team also boasted of the high individual scorer in John Leppo, who cracked out a 678. After opening brilliantly with games of 247 and 258, Leppo lost a possible 700 score when he dropped to a 173 in his last effort.

Closing with a 241, Art Hilborn contributed a 643, and Earl Robertson pounded out a 243 and a 628. Clarence Meder shot a 607, although shooting a 168 in his last game. Ev Schaus, 612, and Ted Ganyard, 606, were high for the Meder team, which rolled a 2828.

The Leiderkranz smashed out a 2880 to take three games from the Roma Lunch. Duke Weber paced the winners with a 655, which included a 246. Joe Michaels rolled a 623 for the Lunchmen, who scored a 2723.

In the other match, the Metcalf Pure Oils won two games from the Lumbermens Mutuals. Wentz rolled a 600 for the Mutuals.

The Melancholidays Are Here

'Twas the night before Christmas
When all through the shack
Every creature was stirring
But, alas and alack!
The stocking was hung
By the chimbley with fright,
For the stork was expected
To fly 'round that night.
Ma got her present,—she
Sorter knew
What would be in her
Stocking;
Pa thought the same, too.
But, Johnny, crestfallen,
Said: "Well, I'll give up;
Santy sends me a meat doll,
And I'd prayed for a pup."

G. A.

MY FATHER once served as one of the School Committee, in a small Massachusetts town. One day the Committee thought they would pay a visit to several of the schools, and they surprised one young female pedagog by dropping in all unannounced. A class of youngsters was reciting. Thinking to put them to a test, she asked one small lad: "Who wrote Hamlet?" The boy to whom the question was put did not reply. Feeling somewhat embarrassed, the teacher again put the question, but with slightly more insistence, when he answered: "I don't know!" At this, one of the other Committeemen turned to my Dad, and said: "The little skeezits, I bet he DID."

CARD on door-knob of a room in Hotel Governor Clinton read: "Please don't disturb," while inside a radio was going full blast. Now I ask you?

HAPPENED into an old cobbler's shop, on one of the East Side's Streets, and I found a real philospher. He was also a bit humorous. Said he: "You newspaper fellers think you're awful smart, but do you know that, thousands of years ago the world knew all about turret tops, streamlines, retractable landing gears, and portable houses? And, if you don't believe me, then you ask the next turtle you come across if I'm not right."

—A Guest from Washington, D. C.

FAR better is it to dare mighty things to win glorious triumphs, even though checkered by failure, than to rank with those poor spirits who neither enjoy much nor suffer much because they live in the gray twilight that knows neither victory nor defeat.
—Theodore Roosevelt

How commercialism doth erose the edges of romance. This morning I called to see Francis T. Hunter, the one-time tennis champ, but now promoting the group of professionals who are so successfully touring the country. Hunter's office is in an old, New York residence, and which, forty or fifty years ago, was the scene of much social eclat. As I sat there at the foot of the grand staircase I ruminated over the festivities which once took place there. In my imagination I saw its former owner descending those winding stairs, dressed in his gold lace and clanking sword, to meet the group waiting there to see him. I almost could hear those compassionate words of his: "Don't cheer, boys; those poor fellows are dying!",—words which have become immortalized; his most fitting epitaph, and which, carved in human hearts, will endure long after their cutting in any marble shaft long will have vanished under the onslaught of wind and hail. Yes, it was no less than Admiral Schley whom I visioned coming down that stairway in his old 52nd Street home.

Van Mungo Slated To Go to Giants

New York Teams Expected to Close Trade at Major League Meeting In Chicago—Browns and Senators Deal.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

MILWAUKEE—(AP)—Don't hold your breath, baseball fans, if you are waiting for a sizzling major league deal, because there won't be any at the minor league convention.

Maybe next week at Chicago's major league meeting Van Mungo, Brooklyn's bad boy, will have a new uniform measured for him; maybe Joe Vosmik, St. Louis Browns' outfielder, will move to the Chicago White Sox patrol; perhaps Catcher Rollie Hemsley of the Browns will join the Cleveland Indians; and probably several others may move to greener pastures. But right now the baseball trading mart is stagnated.

In the National league everything revolves around Mungo while the American league, traditionally opposed to radical shakeups within its own ranks, is adhering to time-worn custom. The last-place St. Louis Browns are attempting to make deals with every club in the league, but are getting nowhere.

Browns Get Linke.

Attempting to break the ice for future deals, Owner Donald Barnes of the Browns last night traded Elon Hogsett, southpaw pitcher, to the Washington Senators for Ed Linke, right-handed pitcher. Both are relief hurlers.

The disposition of Mungo will be the big deal in the National league when it takes place. Four or five clubs have made bids for him. The Giants apparently have the inside track on the temperamental fireball pitcher who wound up last season under suspension after being fined approximately $2,000.

Most important session of the national association was scheduled today at which time they'll vote on 58 amendments to the constitution. One of these concerns the signing of college players before their class has graduated. A minor charge was made against the Yanks by the Cardinals who claimed that Col. Jake Ruppert's club has spent $76,000 in cornering collegians the past year.

Signing of Hank Gowdy as coach of the Cincinnati Reds today came as no surprise as he had served for years under Bill McKechnie at Boston. George Kelly, Cincinnati coach last year, was understood to have been offered a similar post as coach with the Bees.

Trautman Re-elected.

George Trautman, Columbus, yesterday was re-elected president of the American association for three years.

The by-laws of the association were changed in order to give Trautman the longest term ever given an association president. He succeeded T. J. Hickey two years ago.

The Middle-Atlantic league introduced a new wrinkle by adopting an all-white baseball for next season. The ball will have all white seams and will be stamped with aluminum ink instead of red ink.

Junior Highs Start Friday

John Simpson Plays at Home; Hedges at Perrysville.

The Bi-County junior high school basketball league will open Friday with both of the Mansfield representatives in action. John Simpson is host to Hayesville in an afternoon tilt, and Hedges invades Perrysville. Shelby, the other member of the league, is idle.

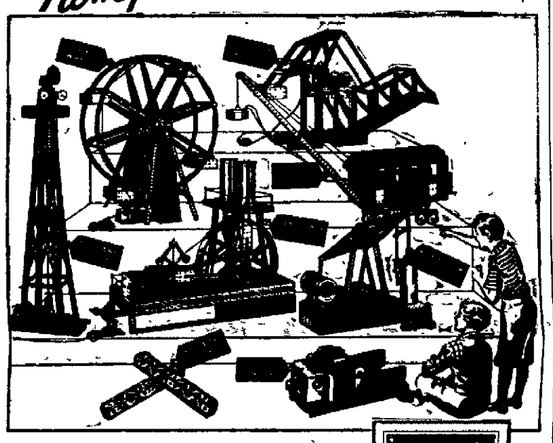
THE GILBERT HALL OF SCIENCE PRESENTS
The great New Speed ERECTOR



Boys! You step into a dazzling new world when you own the great new Speed Erector. With your own hands you can make dozens of mighty mechanical marvels that hum with action. Hook up the powerful Erector electric engine and that Bascule bridge actually opens and closes. The ferris wheel goes 'round and 'round. The airplane beacon revolves. The magnetic crane raises and lowers—swings to the right or left—grabs up steel girders before it touches them. There are more thrills—more hours of fun in an Erector Set than anything else you can own. Tell Dad Erector is what you want most for Christmas. Prices start at $1.00.

FREE
7 sq. ft. "How-to-Sell-Dad" Poster. Shows new Speed Erector in life size and full colors. Also, "Gimme" card to help you get what you want for Christmas. Send coupon or 1c post card. Address: A. C. Gilbert Co. 32 Erector Square, New Haven, Conn.

STOCK PRICES LEAN BACKWARD IN SLOW MART

Motors, Steels and Coppers Slip as Ticker Tape Loafs at Opening.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Stocks generally leaned backward in today's market, although selling pressure was not pronounced in most categories.

Motors, steels and coppers were inclined to slip from the start and while the ticker tape loafed the greater part of the time, losses of fractions to a point or more predominated near the second hour.

Buying forces failed to derive any cheer from the renewed drive for passage of the wage-hour bill in Congress. Hopes for alteration of the corporate surplus and capital gains taxes at this session also waned. There were few signs of any nearby pickup in business and industry.

Commodities and bonds were uneven.

Among factors tending to cloud the market picture were estimates the new coal prices ordered by the bituminous coal commission, effective Dec. 16, will boost industrial costs by some $40,000,000 or more a year. It was pointed out, though, that the annual production loss to mining operators has been running around $41,000,000 for the past several years.

Holders of rail equipment shares noted forecasts of carrier executives that, in the event they are permitted to hoist freight charges, he roads will be in position to purchase 100,000 freight cars and 2,000 locomotives a year.

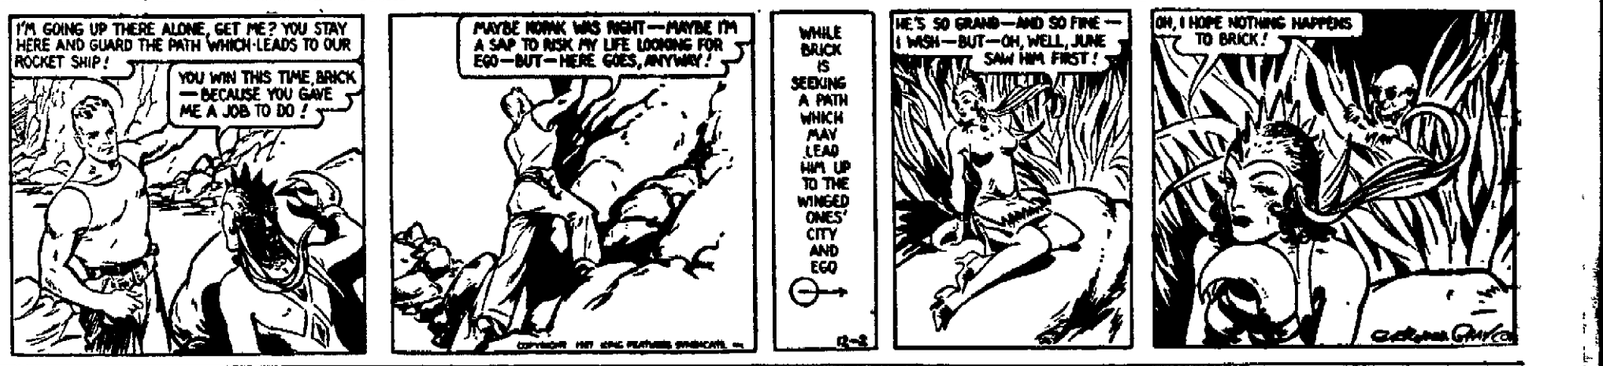
THE NEBBS—Big Business By Sol Hess

HELLO, SOFT COKE, YOU'D MAKE THE BIG MARK IN A SHOOTIN' GALLERY LOOK LIKE THE DOT OVER AN "I"
I HEARD MAW BRAG ABOUT GETTING HIS PLACE BACK FROM OLD GRINNER FOR $3000 AND NOW I UNDERSTAND HE'S GOING TO SELL YOU A HALF INTEREST FOR $3000- JUST HOW IS IT THAT EVERYBODY BUT ME CAN TAKE A HACK AT YOUR COIN?
I OFFERED YOU A GREAT CHANCE ...INVESTMENT IN MY CHICKEN FARM...HEATED HOUSES, ELECTRIC LIGHTS...WHERE THE CHICKENS SING AT THEIR WORK... BUT, NO! I GUESS IM TOO HONEST...NO HONEST PROPOSITION LOOKS BIG ENOUGH FOR YOU!

DIXIE DUGAN—The Pearls. By J. P. McEvoy and J. H. Striebel

NOW WILL YOU BELIEVE ME WHEN I SAY I SAW THAT DUGAN GIRL WITH YOUR PEARLS?
NO—
12-2
—I MIGHT HAVE MISLAID THEM
HMPH!—YOU'RE SO CRAZY ABOUT THAT GIRL YOU STILL DOUBT ME
WHY DON'T YOU COME WITH ME AND LET ME PROVE IT?
ALL RIGHT— I WILL! NOT BECAUSE I SUSPECT MISS DUGAN BUT BECAUSE I WANT TO SHOW YOU JUST HOW WRONG YOU ARE!
WHAT'S THIS???? —WHY THESE LOOK LIKE MRS. HACKET'S PEARLS!

BRICK BRADFORD—Adrift in an Atom. By William Ritt and Clarence Gray



I'M GOING UP THERE ALONE, GET ME? YOU STAY HERE AND GUARD THE PATH WHICH LEADS TO OUR ROCKET SHIP!
YOU WIN THIS TIME, BRICK —BECAUSE YOU GAVE ME A JOB TO DO!
MAYBE NOWAK WAS RIGHT—MAYBE I'M A SAP TO RISK MY LIFE LOOKING FOR EGO—BUT—HERE GOES, ANYWAY!
WHILE BRICK IS SEEKING A PATH WHICH MAY LEAD HIM UP TO THE WINGED ONES' CITY AND EGO
HE'S SO GRAND—AND SO FINE— I WISH—BUT—OH, WELL, JUNE SAW HIM FIRST!
OH, I HOPE NOTHING HAPPENS TO BRICK!

MICKEY MOUSE— The Plan Is Slightly Defective. By Walt Disney

SO YOU WANT TO MURDER ZE KING---UND PUT ME ON ZE THRONE IN HIS PLACE!
IT ISS FOR ZE GOOD OF ZE COUNTRY--- UND NOT SO BAD FOR ME! UND YOU!
YOU LOOK SO MUCH LIKE KING MICHAEL ZAT NOBODY COULD EFFER TELL ZE DIFFERENCE! WE CANNOT FAIL!
YOU ARE MISTAKEN, YOU TRAITOR! THERE ISS ONE THING WRONG WITH YOUR PLAN!
YOU SEE--- I AM KING MICHAEL!

TAILSPIN TOMMY—Words of Doom! By Hal Forrest

ON THROUGH THE FOG-BOUND NIGHT ROARS THE BIG AIR LINER WITH ITS LOAD OF HELPLESS, TERROR-STRICKEN PASSENGERS AT THE MERCY OF A MADMAN, AND WITH ONLY A MECHANICAL PILOT TO PROLONG THEIR LIVES LONG ENOUGH FOR THE PLANE TO REACH THE TREACHEROUS MOUNTAIN AREA JUST AHEAD.
AND AS THE TRANSPORT DRONES ON, DIRKMAN HOLDS HIS TREMBLING AUDIENCE SPELL-BOUND BY HIS GUN AND HIS OMINOUS WORDS
YOU THINK THAT I AM MAD BUT I HAVE PLANNED THIS THING QUITE SANELY.
I INTEND TO DIE TONIGHT. YOU PEOPLE MUST, UNFORTUNATELY, DIE WITH ME, OR MY PLANS WOULD BE UPSET

PARADE CAST HARD AT WORK

Over in a corner, looking very serious over the work of harmonizing on the modern songs are the Three Grace Notes. (Jane Wentbrich, Dorothy Clingan and Ruth Cox) while the two feminine soloists, Jane Wilson and Beatrice Kochenderfer, discuss costumes and hum bits from their songs.

Others who will take part in the show are rehearsing individually. Several of the "black cats" for the "March of Time" sequence of the show will start rehearsals tomorrow night.

Rehearsals on some phase of the show are being held every night so that performers will be "letter perfect" in lines and action and music the night of the show.

Tickets for the show went on sale yesterday at a number of downtown and neighborhood business concerns and through individuals.

K. of C. See Film—Motion pictures of life and scenes in the U. S. navy will be shown to Mansfield Knights of Columbus at the K. of C. home tonight by a member of the U. S. recruiting staff at Cleveland. The meeting will begin at 8 p. m.

Car Looted—Joseph Muscioli, 187 Sycamore street, told police today that his car had been ransacked while parked on West Sixth street and that a revolver he carried in the machine was stolen.

12 Girls Given Athletic Awards At Senior High

Twelve members of the Girls' Athletic association at Senior high school were presented with athletic numerals at a meeting of the group Wednesday afternoon.

The numerals were presented to those members of the association who have earned 300 points or more in various athletic events. Presentations were made by Miss Margaret Clapsaddle, girls' physical ducation instructor.

Receiving the numerals were Naomi Velzy, Donna Bowman, Bertha Croak, Ruth Blaney, Eloise Husung, Mildred DeYarman, Katherine Albers, Jane Bruce, Mary Alice Wentz, Mary Alice Mead, Janet Bucher and Marjorie Ewing.

During the meeting plans were completed for a Recognition Day assembly to be held Tuesday afternoon in the auditorium, during which association pins and emblems will be given to 25 members. Speaker at the assembly will be Dean Irma E. Voigt of Ohio University.

Book of the Week

TO SEE OURSELVES, by Rachel Field & Arthur Pederson Macmillan Co., 308 pp $2.50.

* * *

Encouraged by a successful friend, Dee and Hamilton Baseworth leave Morgan, Idaho for Hollywood. Ham, with a flare for writing believes that he, too, can get a contract to write for one of the studios. The only other member of the family they take with them is Midget, their dog.

Although not succesful upon arrival, they greatly enjoy Hollywood. At last they can be independent of their over-solicitious families. Then, too, they have only been married several months—so everything is new and exciting for them. But as the weeks grow into months and no chance comes for Ham, they do become more and more discouraged. Now their days are spent planning how to make the dollars last and their nights worrying about them. At last the big chance comes. Just how and why, makes the story very interesting and entertaining.

The two authors know Hollywood and all of its young aspirants, its-hard-as-nails agents, the obstacles confronting a new writer, the artificiality and the scheming and planning by which the clever get by.

The real value of the story is found in the relationship between Ham and Dee. The adjustment and growth of these two, from easy, carefree days to days of worry and dissatisfaction make up the story. The characterization is so well done that we will have found friends for a long time in Ham and Dee, Steven Randolph, a successful actor, Clarissa Ramsey, a character actress and Conchita Ryan, a professional dancer.

LAKE SHIPPING SEASON CLOSED

Carriers Report Greatest Traffic In History In Seven-Month Period.

CLEVELAND —(UP)— The shipping season on the Great Lakes has closed officially after seven months of the heaviest traffic in history.

Waterway officials indicated the total freight movement on the lakes for the season may exceed the all-time high of 161,000,000 tons, moved in 1929.

Movement of ore ceased yesterday and figures released by the Lake Superior Iron Ore association revealed the 1937 movement totaled 65,593,836 gross tons. This figure has been exceeded only twice in history. In 1916, 67,734,198 tons were moved, and the all-time record established in 1929 when 68,204,600 tons were moved.

Movement of ore this season represented an increase of 17,776,813 tons over the 1936 traffic.

WIDOW SUES

Asks State Compensation In Death of Her Husband.

Industrial compensation for the death of her husband in 1932 is sought by Mrs. Violet Murst, Mansfield, in an action filed yesterday in common pleas court against the Industrial Commission of Ohio.

The petition states that William G. Murst, the plaintiff's husband, suffered a foot injury in 1932 while an employe of the Mansfield Viterous Enameling company and died a year later from infection which developed following the injury.

Her claims for compensation were disallowed and the Industrial commission denied an application for re-hearing of the last claim, Mrs. Murst states in her petition.

Vet, Long Thought Dead, Visits Bride Of 20 Years Ago

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—(AP)—Hallie Daigh, caught in a whirlpool of circumstances created by the World war, has decided to "just keep on the move" now that he has conquered the dread of emerging from the past.

He came home from the war recently to learn the bride he left behind 20 years ago had long since mourned him as dead, was now the wife of another and the mother of a 17-year-old son.

Daigh, a member of the Seventh Field Artillery, was reported missing in action on a battlefield in France. During the last year of the war, Daigh related, he was in a German prison camp and for several years after his release the effects of poison gas blotted from memory all recollection of the past.

His wanderings as a structural iron worker finally brought him to Springfield where an acquaintance told him of his former wife's remarriage.

Daigh, now 39, called upon her and her husband, Otis Jennings, and their son.

CALIFORNIA HAS JOBLESS CAMPS

VINA, Calif.—(AP)—A camp of 16 buildings which will accomodate 250 men is nearing completion, one of a number planned to meet California's unemployment problem. Jobless men without families will be sent to these camps instead of receiving cash payments as at present, but transients will not be admitted.

The men will receive bed, board, clothing, tobacco and medical care but no pay. They will be free to leave at any time to take employment.

Beware Coughs from common colds That Hang On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

RECORD MONTH FOR DIVORCES

23 Suits Filed In November, Largest Number In County Court In Many Years.

The month of November saw 23 husbands and wives take their marital differences into the Richland county divorce court, common pleas records showed today. The number of divorce actions filed was one of the largest for one month in the history of the county.

An even dozen cases were filed in November last year and 16 during October, 1937.

More than three times as many wives as husbands asked divorces during the month, the records showing 18 petitions filed by wives and five by the husbands.

Neglect and cruelty was given as the grounds in 12 cases, gross neglect in six and cruelty alone in one. Two petitioners listed wilful absence as grounds and two wives accused their husbands of habitual drunkenness.

HIT 'GIDDY' MAIDS

Harvard Freshmen Want Older Women To Tidy Rooms.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—(INS)—Harvard freshmen, declaring the "goodies", who are maids that make up their rooms, are too "giddy," have petitioned university authorities to replace the young chambermaids with older women.

The students complained that the younger women are too gay, talk too much and sing too frequently while at work, disturbing the students at their studies.

Nineteen million acres in the United States are now under irrigation.

AUGUSTA, Ky.—(AP)—Edward White, 30, was killed and his father, W. A. White, injured seriously last night when their automobile was struck by a Chesapeake & Ohio freight train at a crossing here.

FUEL FROM MUD

KARACHI, India — (U.P.) — A process for producing fuel from mud has been patented by H. Greenfield, Karachi industrialist. He proposes to found a vast new industry in the mud which is found in inexhaustible quantites all along the coast from Karachi to Bombay. This particular kind of mud is full of semi-decomposed fibers of seaweed.

"Fit for a King."

Joe E. Brown travels abroad in his latest adventure comedy, "Fit For a King," which opens at the Madison theater Friday. Joe starts his adventures as a reporter stowed away on a liner to track down a story. A rival correspondent is on the same assignment and scoops Brown. The story concerns a plot to restore a princess to the throne of a mythical kingdom. Things look pretty black for Joe until he digs up the biggest story of all, a plot to murder the princess, with whom he has fallen in love. After sending in his scoop he starts out to rescue the princess and then things really happen to him. Supporting the comedian are Helen Mack, Paul Kelly and Harry Davenport. Gladys George in "Madame X," plays through today.

Life In Greenwich Village.

Life in fabled Greenwich Village is packed in the new comedy romance, "Live, Love and Learn" at the Ohio theater. Robert Montgomery is cast as a happy-go-lucky artist of the village who goes up to Connecticut to capture sylvan life on his canvas. Bob meets Rosalind Russell, a society beauty, and they fall in love. Miss Russell flings aside her social life and goes to live with her artistic husband in a garret studio. A taste of tragedy enters when Bob fails in his work after his wife leaves him. And to top things off her best girl friend sets out to steal Bob. Others in the cast are Robert Benchley and Helen Vinson.

"Frontier Town."

Tex Ritter, popular singing cowboy star, heads the cast of "Frontier Town," opening at the Majestic Friday. The western star plays the role of a cowboy who upsets the calculations of a crooked gambling ring by beating their rodeo champion repeatedly and winning their wages. How they frame a charge of murder against him and how he in turn discovers them to be a gang of counterfeiters forms the plot of the picture. Ann Evers, Snub Pollard and Charles King are in the cast. The second feature on the program will be "The Adventurous Blonde," with Glenda Farrell and Barton MacLane. The current pictures through today are "Expensive Husbands," and "The Locked Door."

"The Sheik Steps Out."

"The Sheik Steps Out," a romantic comedy of the Sahara, brings Ramon Novarro back to the screen after an absence of several years. The film, opening at the Ritz Friday, follows the adventures of a sheik who impersonates a lowly guide in order to be in a position to "tame" a wild young American heiress who is crossing the desert to buy race horses from the sheik. Lola Lane, Kathleen Burke, Stanley Fields and Gene Lockhart head the supporting cast. Bob Steele in "Doomed at Sundown," completes the screen entertainment. "Mr. Dodds Takes the Air," and "As Good As Married," are the attractions through today.

EXPENSIVE WORD

Taxi Driver's Query to Judge Costs Him Boost In Fine.

SEATTLE, Wash.—(INS)—E A Johnson, 46, a taxi driver, spoke one expensive word in Police Judge William R. Bell's court. Johnson was convicted of beating a passenger, who could not pay a $1.50 fare. "You are fined $50," Judge Bell said. "Who?" Johnson asked. "Fine increased to $100," the judge ordered. Unable to pay, the taxidriver thought it over in the city jail.

When It Is Someone You Know.

WHEN I buy Christmas Health Seals this week—more of them than I have ever bought before—I do it because something happened within the past year that brings better understanding of the need for money in carrying on the vitally important battle against tuberculosis in this community and in other communities all over the country.

This was not a matter of remote and unknown thousands of tuberculosis victims in faraway places—it was the plight of a friend—the requirement for medical attention and proper care was urgent, if health were to be restored and a valuable life saved.

Medical science and the humanitarian impulse have, fortunately, become so well co-ordinated in recent years that vastly improved facilities are now provided for treatment and care of tuberculosis victims—with the result that the ghastly toll of earlier days has been so greatly reduced as to encourage belief that this dreaded enemy of health and life will eventually be entirely wiped out.

When the fight against tuberculosis is visioned as an effort to save the life of a friend, a neighbor, or an acquaintance—then no task is too difficult, no sacrifice too great, in doing whatever needs be done.

In all the great work that has been going on during the past thirty years in the constant war being waged against tuberculosis, there has been no more effective single element than the awakening of public conscience and intelligent use of funds provided through the sale and use of Christmas Health Seals, those little messengers of hope and cheer which go forth on letters and parcels between Thanksgiving and Christmas, carrying assurance that the great heart of humanity is still beating strongly and that each has thought for others.

I am buying many Christmas Health Seals this week—more than I can use, but what matter whether or not all are used, so long as the penny which each of them represents can join with other pennies in creating the dollars needed to save lives, restore health and carry on the work of tuberculosis prevention in this and other communities all over the country. —G. J. K.

Why Are Juveniles Delinquent?

MARKED increase in juvenile delinquency in Mansfield is becoming a subject of quite general discussion.

It appears that an increasing number of children have become so adept in following examples of their elders that they are causing considerable concern.

They, for instance, are gambling on devices intended only for use by grown-ups, and are hanging around "restaurants" and night clubs where intoxicants are sold by licensees who have little regard for the youth of the customer.

The Mansfield Advisory council is engaged in making serious approach to the problem of reducing juvenile delinquency in this community. Various other groups of law-abiding citizens are wondering what can be done about it.

It has been said before, but will bear repeating, that the extent of law enforcement in a city goes no further than expressed public sentiment supports.

In Mansfield there is a sufficient membership in churches, high principled fraternal organizations, parent-teacher associations and various civic and character-building groups, to determine without question, the extent to which law enforcement should go in this city. If present conditions are not to the liking of this large majority of Mansfield's population all they need do is let that fact be known to officials responsible for law enforcement.

As matters now stand it is only those who profit, directly or indirectly, from businesses operated in violation of law, who are heard from by officials when any move is made toward more stringent law enforcement.

Commercialized gambling can be stopped and an ordinance compelling earlier closing of liquor places can be enforced anytime majority public opinion expresses desire that this be done.

All of these things link so closely with juvenile delinquency that it is futile to worry about the one without considering the other.

Senator Donahey's Sensible Stand.

OPPOSITION of Senator Vic Donahey to President Roosevelt's proposal to sharply curtail government expenditures for highway construction during the next two years, is in accord with the sound sense this Ohio senator has shown on a number of occasions.

Whatever rights and responsibilities may devolve on individual states, the network of highways which spreads into all parts of this country is very definitely a national asset, the benefits of which extend to millions of users unconcerned by local or state financing of road construction.

Highway construction in the United States has been heretofore rightly regarded as a part of this nation's long-time program of advancement, with federal funds sharing in the costs of extending road improvements into each of the states in accordance with its needs and its ability to pay a part of the expense.

It is important that all money derived by taxation for use in highway construction and maintenance be honestly and intelligently expended for that purpose. The constantly increasing volume of motor traffic makes it necessary to develop an even more expansive program of highway construction than has yet been done. This is not only a requirement for public convenience but for increased safety as well.

Senator Donahey is to be commended for his sensible position in the matter—and Vic, as you know, is not one who condones any waste of public money.

Of course YOU will do your Christmas shopping early—that's the reason there'll be no last minute rush this year.

There are still some people who refrain from playing slot machines in order to buy things they need.

McIntyre's New York Day by Day

THE last of the Broadway play boys, Tommy Manville, is beginning to show the inevitable wear and tear of time. "Boy" is a misnomer for Manville is gray haired. Also he is stooped and there is the tired look of the spent boulevardier in his eyes.

His inherited fortune of several millions has been lavished—or at least the heavy income therefrom—on the showy type of high blondes. The wide-eyed gimme girls who decorate the floor shows of the cabarets. To many such the asbestos heir has been a generous Santa Claus.

He often has a half dozen of them as house guests even when to all outward appearances he seemed happily wed. He just likes to have them around, hear their fluffy gossip column chatter and in return feed them truffles and caviar with washes of vintage wine.

Apparently he can go just so long without making the headlines and then by some particularly fancy dido will land kerplunk on Page 1 of the tabloids. He is in his early 40's, but looks much older—frivoling around the white lights sometimes does that.

Among standard vaudeville acts, the never-changing routine of the tramp bicyclist Joe Jackson has always interested me. His routine is a model of timing. Not many, outside his agent and fellow performers, know Jackson without make-up. When not wandering the world he lives in almost hermit fashion at Greenwood Lakes, N. Y. In the beginning he was the champion bicyclist of Europe, having migrated from Australia. His relaxation is the camera, mostly snapshots of outdoor scenes. Jackson has strange hunches. Such, for instance, as taking out his wallet in Berlin to pay for passage on the ill-fated Hindenburg and suddenly canceling his ticket and, for no reason he could understand, walking away.

In the Cincinnati salad days I lodged at The Gerdes, a theatrical hotel patronized largely by vaudeville troupers. A clannish lot, they expanded among themselves over beer and sandwiches after the night show. Their talk centered mostly on New York and that valhalla of variety—The Palace. A night clerk named Gus, a Mr. Hoggenheimer come to life, was on easy familiarity with all and I noted that when he went to the opening Sunday matinee performers played to him. He was a notable figure in my eyes because he called Mabel Hite, Ed Wynn, Lewis and Dody, Brice and King, the Arnaut Brothers, Eva Tanguay and many others by their first names. That struck me as top in worldiness.

They are learning gradually how to pronounce the Alfred Lunt-Lynn Fontanne play "Amphitryon 38." The correct version is am-fit-tree-un with accent on the fit. Thus, with a little smother of erudition and a Theater Guild mask, do the Lunts do some of their rather bawdy capering under the guise of high art. The trick of the Lunts' popularity with the prim and precise, plus of course a certain histrionic talent, is in their solid domesticity. Because they are happily married they can do and say things on the stage that would hoist many lorgnettes were they not so related. Slight smut passes as amiable fooling.

When I want to impress folk from back yonder with a certain metropolitan dash of heigh-ho I jockey them by the private mansions of John D. Rockefeller and J. P. Morgan. And illustrate how, if one hesitates before such citadels very long, private guards will pop out from nowhere and saunter up, ready to shuck the stranger of a bomb or what-have-you. I profess to know many such tricks, but in reality it is the only one in my repertoire.

Thingumbobs: Sylvia Sidney, once a crack stenographer, in animated cafe conversation often jots down shorthand on menus . . . Seymour Hicks, London actor, likes steaming black bean soup for breakfast . . . Grantland Rice thinks up many of those dandy sports poems while indulging a morning shave . . . The Rob Wagners are off on a tour of the globe.

The conversation was waxing goofier as it went along. Someone told of a fellow he had just seen who had double pneumonia a few months ago and seemed to have grown smaller. Another inquired: "Will pneumonia shrink you?" And Harry Silvey who up to that time had said nothing, chipped in with: "It won't stretch you anyway."

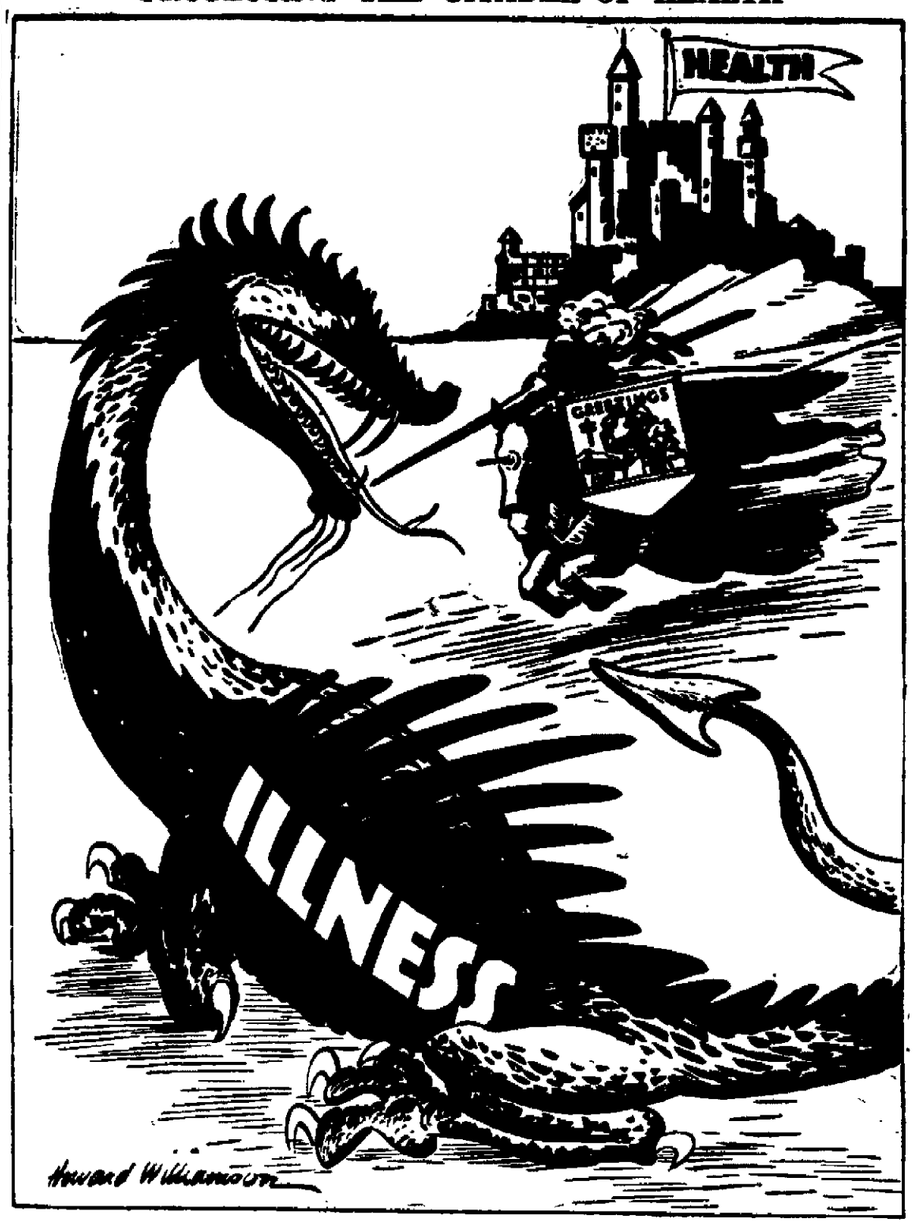
PROTECTING THE CITADEL OF HEALTH



No Truce Yet Between President and Utilities

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—Based on his conferences with the public utilities executives, there is considerable suspicion in Washington that President Roosevelt is going to give battle to the sentiment for business relief in congress. Despite reports to the contrary, there is not the slightest evidence that Mr. Roosevelt gave ground in any particular in his talks with the men interested in the privately owned electric business. On the contrary, he was skeptical on every point they made, and reinforced in his own conviction of rightness when they made important concessions, both as to the rate base and as to new spending.

Some very shrewd observers believe that the conferences will prove helpful, in the future, to the utilities. But this conviction is NOT based on the idea that they pave the way to a truce between the president and the privately owned electric industry. Quite the contrary.

There are two reasons for this belief that the conferences will help the utilities. One is the conviction of these observers that actually a reduction of electric rates in many communities will prove of benefit to the corporations making them, aside from any political consequences—that such reductions will increase business and boost profits.

The other is a long range view, looking to the political picture as it may be in 1939 or 1940, or later. They make the point that the present congress is unwilling to go along with the president in any further attacks on business, or on any further encroachments of government ownership in the electric or any other field. So that it is what the next session of congress and the one following that may do which is important.

* * *

WHEN that time comes, it is contended, conditions will either be better or worse than they are now. If they are better, congress will not be worried about business conditions, and might be more amenable either to radical government ownership pressure, or to pleas for pork-barrel spending for local communities.

If conditions should be worse, there is always the danger of a drift toward socialism. But whichever the situation may be, the more privately owned utilities have reduced their rates in the meantime the less danger they will confront.

But the point which makes some think the president will stand his ground in the various battles sure to ensue in congress this time is his attitude in those conferences with the utility executives. At no time did he give the slightest indication of accepting the argument that his policies had frightened investors, and that this resulting lack of funds was what had kept the utilities from spending an amount his advisers estimate at a billion dollars a year for the last three years.

* * *

HE believed firmly, he revealed, that the reason the utilities had not spent this money for improvements and expansions was that a little group of economic royalists, controlling the holding companies had held them back, their sole purpose being to force the administration to surrender on the holding company death sentence.

If he persists in this view, then logically he will persist in resisting any other changes to relieve anything except the small units in business. In view of the prevailing sentiment in congress, this sets the stage for a knock-down and drag-out fight, with no one able to predict the political or economic consequences, though with at least the possibility that Mr. Roosevelt will not be so strong in 1940 as many had predicted.

Listen, World!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

How Much Do You C. Y. N.?

HOW much do you "CONTEMPLATE YOUR NAVEL?"

Shocked? Amazed that a respectable paper should print such a "coarse question?" You needn't be—and it isn't. To the contrary, it is a serious and sincere question, suggested by an extremely intelligent man—Professor George Counts—and is based upon a spiritual symbol which is held sacred by millions of people.

Buddha! How often have you seen this image which almost half the people of the world adore. Buddha the Ineffable . . . sitting, forever, in mystic contemplation of his own navel . . . the mystic center of His own life.

BUDDHA—whose spirit turns in.

CHRIST—whose spirit turns out.

There is the difference between two great religions. And yet—judged by that difference—many who count themselves Christians are actually devout Buddists! Good American Catholics and Protestants—actually Buddists! Incredible? No, true. And perhaps you'll find therein the secret of your own failure!

"The genuinely free man," says Professor Counts, is not the person who spends the day contemplating his own navel; but rather the one who loses himself in a grand cause or glorious adventure."

You want to live abundantly, don't you? Want to be free, wise, powerful. But how do you go about it? Do you reach out, think out, become a part of the great, progressive plan of life? or do you live IN, think IN—CONTEMPLATING YOUR OWN NAVEL—centering on your own pride, plans and prejudices, fear and fury?

Turn back a thousand years. A crowd of restless men clamor about a young carpenter . . . a penniless lad without position but with strange power. For three years, now, they had studied this obscure worker from Nazareth . . . seen great crowds following Him, obeying Him, though He was, seemingly, only a simple, shabby wanderer. Watched with breathless amazement, as He healed the incurable, cast out devils of insanity, restored life to the dead . . . brought the rich and mighty to their knees before Him.

But how? They, too, yearned to do these things—and more. What was the secret? Smiling He looked into their avid faces . . . answered

"He who would save his life . . . will lose it . . . but he who will lose his life . . . shall find it."

Save their lives by losing them? Lose their lives by saving them? What devilish inconsistency was this?

But it was not inconsistency. Never was truer word spoken.

They wished to live more richly, more abundantly, with more glorious freedom and zest!

THEN THEY MUST FORGET T..EMSELVES . . . STOP BIND-..G THEMSELVES WITHIN THE SMALL, CRAMPED CIRCLE OF THEIR OWN FEARS AND DESIRES, LOSE THEMSELVES IN A WIDER KNOWLEDGE, A LARGER PLAN.

No man could be free who was bound.

No man could find himself, unless he could forget himself—UNLESS HE COULD STOP CONTEMPLATING HIS OWN NAVEL.

No man was bound only by his own pleasures, his own pride. He might be equally bound by his own weakness, his own remorse, his own stupidity or cowardice or greed. To "contemplate one's own navel" . . . that meant absorption in one's own virtue as well as one's own vice—and either absorption was EVIL. For either absorption shut you out from the larger life.

YOU "WANT TO AMOUNT TO SOMETHING?" don't you? You work, plan, give yourself ceaselessly—then why don't you succeed? Because you can't see beyond your own navel! You think that navel is the center of your life. You think if you "develop your own resources" you have done all that is necessary.

But it isn't—and you haven't. Your life is enmeshed with all other lives. You can't find your full self unless you find the Other Fellow too.

YOU WILL NEVER BE YOURSELF . . . NOR FREE YOURSELF . . . UNTIL YOU FORGET YOURSELF.

(Copyright, 1937)

WORDS OF THE WISE

He who reigns within himself, and rules passions, desires and fears, is more than a king. —Milton.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL—

Opposing Groups Are Coming Closer.

IF ONE LISTENS to management problems these days, he begins to pity managers.

Unquestionably labor readjustments will continue in industry. Regardless of what national administration is in power, there will be a broadening of terms for persons who work; and additional safeguards will be granted and set up. The wages and hours' bill may be defeated in congress, but unionization will not be stopped—and hardly will be defeated. Nor will a depression prove a setback. Men will think more of security and "radical" (or protective) measures when things are not going well than when they are.

But, under our present business setup, the managers who actually operate plants, must continue to show a profit (1) with labor under the new conditions, but (2) ownership and management under the old conditions.

The two are not compatible. The local managers are caught in a vise.

At least, one gathers that as he overhears conversations in the industrial districts.

* * *

ANY SOLUTIONS?

But matters are not so hopeless as the foregoing would indicate. Managements and organizations of workers are coming closer together than they ever have been. The security of the one is dependent on the other.

One gathers, therefore, that this closer communion may develop within business and unions a better realization of the joint problems of a changing age.

For example, it is certain that uneconomic units of business must be discontinued. But men cannot be "discontinued." They must continue living. And they can be of great value to business and to society in general only if somehow they can be shifted from uneconomic industry to productive industry.

Now that is too much for a local management to achieve, or even a general management to attain. It becomes a matter of governmental planning—and cooperative effort.

In thousands of plants today, managers are saying truthfully to workers, "We cannot go any further."

Yet if that is to continue, the entire nation will be estopped. Production IS needed. The wants of millions are unsatisfied. Somehow, these many millions of men who themselves have large unfilled wants, must be put to work to produce for their wants.

* * *

NOTHING FROM SANTA

But the organized will have to realize that their demands cannot be fulfilled by drawing the prizes from a wish-hat in the general office. There usually is only one bunny in a wish-hat.

On the other hand, managements cannot continue to wish for "good times," so they can be more generous. They seem to believe that if they are left alone, "good times" will return on the back of a jolly old Santa Claus—and what a good world this will seem!

Then there is the government (in every other land as well as this): Spending millions here, there, to "get things started again"; compromising, patting people on the back, speaking cheerfully. (I have been reading the speeches of the heads of various governments in the world—and they sound so, so much alike!)

Undoubtedly, Santa Claus looking down upon the world is disgusted. Unquestionably he is saying as Shakespeare said: "What fools these mortals me."

Then, most surely, he adds: "They have everything down there to give all men enough. But nobody desires to face the truth headon. Unless these people cooperate to see that each man can work for his gift, there will be no gifts for anybody."

Timely Editorial

Woodenhead Charley.

Perhaps there is a moral hidden somewhere in the fact that Charlie McCarthy, ventriloquist's dummy, has been acclaimed radio's favorite comedian. This saucy bit of lumber with the keen repartee and the rogueish laugh, does indeed provide a new and refreshing type of entertainment to a listening public whose appetite had become somewhat dulled.

Charlie is refreshing. He is an amusing novelty. Incidentally, in view of the $12,000 a week movie and radio salary contract he has brought his partner, Edgar Bergen, he is about the most valuable piece of wood ever carved.

The Charlie McCarthy craze is developing into an epidemic. Amateur ventriloquists are springing up like dandelions. Toy shops are featuring miniature McCarthys, which can be manipulated like their "father." He has become the wooden idol of the nation, but at least he has achieved something none of the millions of graven images has done in times past, he has brought laughter instead of fear. May he live long ere the termites get him.—Ohio State Journal.

Cure for Ills of the World Suggested By Author

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

H. G. WELLS has been touring the United States and Canada, delivering lectures on the dire state of our present civilization and offering a remedy. As in most cases of social reform, the diagnosis is better than the treatment.

We all recognize the symptoms which endanger civilization with the increase of unemployment, the lack of business stability, danger of war and lack of responsibility for public affairs among private individuals. How it is going to work out nobody knows, and Mr. Wells seems to think there is quite a possibility that it won't work out at all, and that human civilization will disappear. He thinks that while we have improved enormously in mechanical devices, means of transportation and communication, the brain organization of the modern world has not been organized to deal with the new problems which these machines impose.

Personally, I am not so sure that this is possible. From what I know of human nature, mankind is a mechanical, not a mental, animal, who will find his salvation in mechanical ways, and that the average population, even in times of war, will find means of subsistence somehow, and carry on some semblance of our modern civilization to hand on to the next generation. It will be pretty hard to eradicate the human race. We even find it is impossible to eradicate mosquitoes and typhoid germs.

Mr. Wells' Solution.

Mr. Wells' solution is to have an encyclopedia drawn up by the best minds of the world, and have everyone learn the facts about the universe. It seems strange that a man of Mr. Wells' historical outlook would not realize that we have had encyclopedias from the very earliest days of printing, and before. Each of these contained a chapter on medicine, and for that reason I have been interested in them, because some of the early discoveries in medicine were written in these books. The "Margherita Philosophia" was one of these, which was probably in Shakespeare's library. The medieval schoolmen, such as Albertus Magnus, were constantly writing encyclopedias, and they were widely distributed.

One of the most interesting of the encyclopedists was Roger Bacon, that greatest "apparition of the Middle Ages," and in one part of his encyclopedic books he carefully concealed in a cipher the invention by which he is best known today. In this book the first eight chapters were written in clear and readable Latin, but the following chapters, according to an eminent scholar, read like so much gibberish.

The fact is that Bacon had devised what is called the "Argyle Cipher," which consists of a clever way of hiding sentences that are important under a lot of high sounding phases and words. Allegedly he was discussing the Elixir of Life and the Philosopher's Stone, and actually he described saltpeter and the making of gunpowder, and he puts the most important sentence, which related to the proportions of the explosive mixture, in an anagram which successfully withstood translation for almost 700 years. Is it not too bad that this encyclopedist's secret was ever rediscovered?

Apropos to cures of the world's ills, we are reminded of what Prof. E. A. Ross once remarked. "The real enemy of the dove of peace is not the eagle of pride or the vulture of greed, but the stork."

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"There's Many a Slip—"

'Twas a mighty long slip—the first one; in fact, the cup has not yet reached the lip, though it happened thousands of years ago.

Ancaeus, King of the Leleges in Samos, an island in the Grecian Archipelago, was notorious for his inhumanity to his slaves.

The King planted a vineyard and a daring slave prophesied to him that he would never taste the wine of its grapes.

When the wine was ready the King sent for this slave and taunted him with his prophecy.

"There's many a slip," returned the slave grimly, "twixt the cup and the lip."

No sooner had he spoken the words than the King was notified that a wild boar had broken into his vineyard and was destroying it.

Ancaeus set down the cup of wine that he had not yet tasted and went out to drive away the boar, but the animal killed him, and the cup never reached his lips.

Everyday Poems

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

For Every Hour Its Own.

Let every moment know the work
That you have planned for it;
So easily will go the day,
Like puzzles bit by bit.

Pieced in until the whole is clear.
Let each hour know its own
Especial task as you have planned,
It's task and that alone.

And do not crowd into the space
Of any one, too much:
This is the happy way of life,
Then, what your fingers touch,

And what your mind conceives will be Achieved as best you may,
And knowing that, more happiness
You'll find in every day.

PARIS EXPOSES INTERNATIONAL CRIME HOOK-UP

Tips on Police Broadcast and Schools For Criminals Also Discovered.

PARIS—(U.P.)—Two startling disclosures in crime have been made by the Paris Police Prefecture.

Investigators have discovered the existence of a worldwide broadcasting system through which warnings against police traps are sent in a mysterious code to criminals all over the world. They also have obtained circulars that show there is a well-equipped correspondence school offering complete courses in any form of crime.

The radio organization, police discovered, makes frequent broadcasts from Britain, France, Germany, the United States and other countries. The wave lengths are changed for each broadcast. Experts are trying to discover the code used. French police also have been trying to find the location of the transmitting stations for six months. The code has baffled them even when they succeeded in picking up some message.

Tale of Two Crooks.

Recently police here were advised from London of the departure of two notorious confidence men from France. They were traveling with a third man of whom nothing was known.

As it was known that their baggage was registered through the Gare du Nord, police were content to await their arrival there, but only the third man arrived. He was able to satisfy the police that he was not associated with the two crooks, but had merely made their acquaintance in a London hotel and traveled to France with them.

The man disclosed that one of the two confidence men carried a pocket receiving set with which he had picked up message at intervals during the journey. These were in code, and the man "listening in" read the code words out to his companions. It was after receiving one of these messages that the two decided to travel by road to Paris.

The informant remembered a few of the code words he had heard, the police now know that they formed part of a message sent to warn the two men that the police were watching for them.

Dual Slayer?

Father of three children, Frank Robideau, 38, of Wheat Basin, Mont., faces first degree murder charges after purportedly signing a confession to the slaying of his neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kuntz, and severely beating their five-year-old son Larry. The dual slaying is said to have followed a quarrel over 180 bushels of wheat.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

CONDUCT CLINIC

Physical Education Leaders to Meet In Ashland Saturday.

Superintendents and physical education instructors of Richland county schools will go to Ashland Saturday to attend the first annual northcentral Ohio physical and health education methods clinic.

The program, in charge of George H. Donges, director of physical and health education at Ashland college, will include demonstrations by elementary pupils from Ashland schools and Ashland college students.

Demonstrations will be given in the teaching of sports, the planning of home recreation activities, posture and accident prevention methods. Both morning and afternoon sessions will be held, with the classes scheduled to start at 10 a. m.

A Muffin a Day Keeps Cathartics Away

If you suffer from common constipation here's good news for you. One good-sized muffin every day, made with Kellogg's All-Bran, will keep you "REGULAR."

All-Bran puts two of Nature's own laxatives back in your diet. Instead of over-stimulating your intestines, it gives them things they need. First, "bulk"—All-Bran absorbs water and softens like a sponge. This water-softened mass aids elimination. Second, vitamin "B,"—the amazing vitamin that tones up your intestinal tract.

Kellogg's All-Bran is a crunchy, toasted cereal. Eat it with milk or cream and fruits—or in muffins. But however you eat it, use it REGULARLY: eat two tablespoons of All-Bran and drink plenty of water. If you do this every day you can avoid common constipation and cathartics, too! Every grocer sells All-Bran. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

LIBRARY HELPS COLUMBUS BLIND

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The long cherished dream of a Columbus woman, blind for 27 years, reached fruition recently when an alcove containing more than 150 [illegible] in braille was opened at the Columbus public library.

The dream was that of Mrs. Frances Robbins, who lost her sight as a result of an illness. In 1923 she founded the Columbus branch of the National Association of Blind Artists, which three years ago became the Columbus Association for the Blind.

Attending the formal opening of the alcove were approximately 40 of Columbus' blind, escorted by camp fire girls.

U. S. SPEEDS UP CAMPAIGN TO CURB MONOPOLY

Two Anti-Trust Suits Filed as Roosevelt Confers on Revision of Laws.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.)—Federal authorities intensified their drive to curb monopoly today while President Roosevelt and Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson studied plans for a program to put teeth in the anti-trust laws.

Mr. Roosevelt and Jackson, head of the justice department's trust division, were conferring during a fishing trip off the coast of Florida. Out of these conferences, informed sources in the justice department said, probably will come details of the administration's proposed anti-trust legislation.

Files Two Suits.

The government's latest move was made against the half-billion dollar telegraph communications field. Anti-trust suits were filed yesterday against the Western Union Telegraph company and the Postal Telegraph and Cable corporation in the southern district of New York federal court.

The federal trade commission simultaneously attacked alleged price-fixing by metal window products manufacturers and the cement institute. Both industries supply products vital to the construction in dustry in which the president seeks to stimulate an estimated $16,000,000,000 building boom.

The F. T. C. issued cease and desist orders against 19 window products firms, charging them and the metal window institute with fixing prices and unlawfully "restricting trade."

The commission charged the sale price of window cases was fixed through applications of discounts to the basic prices listed in a catalog used throughout the industry.

The union now has its headquarters at the Trades Council hall and holds meetings there.

GETS LIFE TERM

Killer of Physician and Wife Pleads Guilty, Sentenced.

SOUTH PARIS, Me.—(U.P.)—Eighteen-year-old Paul Nathanial Dwyer's murder trial ended abruptly today when he pleaded guilty.

Superior Judge George L. Emery immediately sentenced the former Hebron academy student to life imprisonment—the mandatory penalty—for the murder of Dr. James G. Littlefield, 66, of South Paris. Dwyer also strangled Mrs. Littlefield but was on trial charged specifically only with the doctor's murder.

Yesterday the confession made by Dwyer following his arrest at North Arlington, N. J., Oct. 16 was read to the jury. It was in that community that Dwyer was found at the wheel of an automobile that contained the bodies of his victims.

DRAWS BILL TO LEGALIZE SLOTS

Ohio Lawmakers Sees License Fee Bolster Pension Fund.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Rep. William H. Whetro (D-Lawrence) said today that he intended to introduce a bill in the house of representatives next week to legalize slot machine operation for financing increased grants to old age pensioners.

Whetro and George J. Harter (D-Summit) staunch supporters of Ohio social security measures, advocate legalization of the slot machines to care for 10,000 persons eligible for aid who are not receiving pensions.

Whetro said he did not know how much revenue might be derived from the slot machine legalization plan, but believed it might be adequate to finance increased awards to the aged.

REMINDS CITY OF DEADLINE FOR FOREIGN BOUND CHRISTMAS MAIL

Mansfielders intending to send Christmas packages and cards to foreign countries were reminded today by Postmaster Herman E. Homberger of the dates on which the parcels will have to be placed in the mail in order to insure delivery before the holidays.

WESTINGHOUSE MEETINGS ON

District Appliance Officials In Mansfield For Week of Sales Conferences.

Ten district appliance supervisors of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company are in attendance at a sales meeting being held at the Mansfield works all this week. In charge of the group is H. B. Donley, manager, appliance department, and R. M. Oliver, appliance advertising representative.

The group listed below, represents the ten sales districts of the Westinghouse merchandising division: William F. Rooney, New England district; J. A. Sullivan, Eastern district; W. H. Jensen, jr., Middle Atlantic district; C. A. Wallis, Southeastern district; D. W. Bishop, Southcentral district; Vale Freeland, Central district; D. R. Anneaux, Northwestern district; J. A. Broadhurst, Midwestern district; J. F. Watrous, Southwestern district, and Norman Meyer, Pacific Coast district.

Meetings are being held on heating appliances, fans and vacuum cleaners, led by R. M. Armstrong on heating appliances, W. J. Massenburg, manager, fan sales, and Foster Perry, vacuum cleaners. This is the first time in the history of the company that a central meeting has been held in Mansfield solely on traffic appliances. The reason, Westinghouse officials say, is the gain in sales in these three lines in the past few years.

THREE HELD IN WOMAN'S DEATH

Sheriff Says Murder of Bride-to-Be Solved by Arrests.

COVINGTON, Ky. — (AP) — Police Chief John Puthoff said today that with two colored men in custody, "we are satisfied we have solved the murder, Oct. 2, 1936, of Frances Marie Brady."

A murder charge was filed against one.

A third man is under surveillance in a hospital, where he has been ill for several weeks.

Miss Brady, 37-year-old secretary to a Cincinnati business man, was shot and killed as she entered her Covington home with her sisters. Together, they had attended a bridal shower honoring her scheduled marriage five days later, to John O'Donnell, railroad passenger agent.

An Enoch Arden of a long disbanded army—Hallie Daigh, 39—has returned to Springfield, Ill., after 20 years. And he finds that the bride to whom he said goodby at San Antonio, Tex., in 1917, divorced him, remarried and now is the mother of a 17-year-old son. Daigh was reported missing in action in the war. In reality he was in a German prison camp. Poison gas had clouded his memory. Thus, when released from the hospital in 1920, instead of returning home, he wandered.

RECORD DIVE

Wisconsin Youth Descends 420 Feet Into Lake.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — (U.P.) — Max E. Nohl, 27, claimed a new diving record today after descending 420 feet into Lake Michigan in a home-made diving suit.

The record, checked by observers on the coast guard cutter Antietam, exceeded by 113 feet the accepted mark set for deep-sea diving by Frank Crilley at Pearl Harbor, Honolulu, in 1915.

The difference between ordinary suits and the one Nohl designed and constructed in his basement workshop, is that he carried aid with him in a tank on his back.

FACING TERM

Alliance Man Arrested, Held on Contempt Charge.

Charles Wareham, Alliance, was held in the city jail today under $100 bond on a contempt charge filed by City Solicitor Herbert H. Schettler.

Wareham, sentenced to 180 days in jail on Sept. 1, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of non-support was given a suspended sentence on the condition that he make a $15 payment to his wife Christina, every two weeks for the support of his two minor children.

In his affidavit, Schettler claims that the payments have not been made and asked the court to impose the suspended jail sentence.

Acting Judge Stuart H. Cramer set hearing on the case for Dec. 6, and fixed bail at $100.

MUST PAY TAX

N. Y. State Officials Ordered to Figure Income Levy.

ALBANY, N. Y.—(AP)—Attorney General John J. Bennett, jr., upheld today the constitutionality of a 1937 law requiring elective New York state officials to pay a state personal income tax.

The law requires that salaries of all elective state officers be included in gross income for purposes of the state income tax, after next Dec. 31.

HUNTER NAMES OFFICIALS SOON

Mayor-Elect Says He'll Submit List of Appointees to Campaign Committee.

former council president and unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic mayoralty nomination in 1935, would be the next service-safety director.

Others, whose names are heard among likely appointees are James M. Herlihy and Jacob Rahm, both of whom held city posts under the last Democratic Mayor, Charles M. Lantz. Herlihy was superintendent of the waterworks and Rahm was superintendent of parks.

Donnell D. Orweiler, at present employed by the state highway department is being touted as the next superintendent of streets.

Hunter will also have at least one appointment to make to the civil service commission. The term of Stanley Blackstone, Democratic secretary of the commission, expires Dec. 31.

While the mayor-elect says that "it's the only position that I haven't had an application for," speculation has it that Atty. Joseph A. Bayer would be a likely prospect for the post.

There seems to be little speculation concerning the jobs of garbage disposal superintendent and sewage disposal superintendent on the grounds that the present office holders are the only men here with the technical knowledge necessary to qualify for the positions. The garbage plant is operated by Lester Linham and the sewage plant is under the supervision of Paul Sotherland, a Republican.

In addition to the major offices to be filled, there are some 40 minor appointments that Hunter will consider.

Tomorrow Hunter leaves his position at the Ohio Brass company and will get down to the business of considering the appointments that must be made.

CLASS ELECTS

Lewis Campbell New Leader of St. Paul's Group.

New officers of the St. Paul's Men's Sunday School class of the South Main Street Evangelical church were elected at a dinner meeting of the class last night at the church.

Officers elected for the coming year are Lewis Campbell, president; B. E. Frasher, vice-president; John Reiter, treasurer; C. Ed. Millington, secretary, and C. L. Britton, assistant secretary.

Claude M. Hunter, teacher of the class, was re-elected as teacher for the 18th consecutive year. Assistant teachers elected are J. A. Kochheiser and Floyd Thrush.

A program of magic was presented by Faye M. Wooley. The dinner was given by the losing team in a contest conducted from Aug. 1 to Nov. 21.

HUNT FLIERS AFTER CRASH

Navy Planes Watch Seas for Trace of Missing Pair.

NORFOLK, Va. — (U.P.) — Navy airplanes, coast guard cutters and land parties intensified search at dawn today for two navy fliers whose plane crashed in the ocean off Virginia Beach last night.

Officials at the Hampton Roads naval air base said there still is "definite possibility" that aviation Cadet James J. Jones of Washington and aviation Machinist 1st Class Troy W. Blanton of LaFayette, Ala., still are alive.

Officials said the flyers may have leaped from the plane before it crashed. Wearing life belts, they may have driften into the swampy land along the Virginia coat, or might still be bobbing about in the Atlantic somewhere near Virginia Beach, navy men believed.

IF THEY SMILE, THERE'S REASON

the human mind has revolutionized American salesmanship methods in the past decade.

"We have only recently attempted to study man and the knowledge we already have of him has re-arranged our ideas of what is required to keep young and personable and to sell ourselves to others," Wisehaupt said.

Pointing out that both youth and contentment are dependent upon a mental attitude, he listed imagination, fear and worry as the chief enemies of happiness and success.

"The booger man is the biggest evil in the home," he asserted, "because he starts in the imagination and grows, often giving children the wrong start." He blamed parents for the thwarted personalities and handicapping fear that many people carry through life.

"Fear can grow to unlimited measures; it can kill personality, make men old and put them in the hospital."

Business and professional men have changed their methods of selling their products and themselves since they have come to recognize the importance of character analysis, he declared.

"It was the mistaken idea in the past that we had to impress people with the importance of our jobs. The lawyer, doctor, preacher and garage man, even, made us uncomfortable and fearful every time we approached him. Now each has learned how to get our money away from us. They still ask for the money, but they do it in a different way."

Personality is needed in the home, too, and it can keep the husband home at night and away from so many lodge meetings if the wife knows how to use it, he added.

Harold W. Arlin, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, introduced Wisehaupt following a concert by the high school orchestra under S. K. Jorgenson's direction. Last night's attendance was even larger than the almost capacity audience on Tuesday night.

Complimentary tickets for the final lecture tonight are available at the offices of the Chamber of Commerce, The News-Journal, the Retail Merchants association and from retail stores in the city.

Starting Friday night in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, Wisehaupt will give a sales course in four lectures, for which a nominal charge will be made. The lectures will be given Friday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at 8 p. m. each day. Persons interested in these lectures may obtain details from F. C. Drake and H. R. Steele, Wisehaupt's associates, either at the Mansfield-Leland hotel or at tonight's lecture at the high school.

TREASURER 'CRACKS' SAFE

OGDENSBURG, N. Y.—(U.P.)—City Treasurer M. M. Morse "cracked" the safe in police headquarters vault when he solved the mystery of the missing combination. The safe had been closed since abandonment of T. E. R. A activities here. Morse worked half an hour before arriving at the proper combination.

TAKE WEIGHT OFF TIRED FEET

Lose Fat The Easy Way — Without Starvation Diets, or Back-Breaking, Bending and Reducing Exercises.

If your feet and ankles feel tired and ache all over — because you are carrying too much fat — do something about it. Try the treatment that has helped millions to reduce excess weight.

There's a reason why so many people find dieting slow and often times futile in reducing. The reason, doctors say, is often because a little gland is not working right.

All the blood in your body goes through this tiny gland sixteen times every day. If it doesn't pour into the blood stream about one and one-half drops of vital fluid every 24 hours, many people take on ugly fat. This fluid helps Nature to "burn up" excess food and fatty tissue in much the same way as a good "draft" acts in a furnace.

Now, physicians combat this condition by feeding this gland the substance it lacks — and millions of pounds of excess fat has been wiped out in this way.

Marmola Prescription Tablets are based on the same method used by doctors. So don't waste your time or money striving to reduce with starvation diets or back-breaking exercises. Start the Marmola treatment today that millions have used successfully to get rid of excess fat. The formula is in every box so you know just what you are taking. Don't wait — get a box of Marmola today from your druggist.

OPTIMISTS YULE PARTY ON DEC. 21

Club to Be Host to Juniors at Dinner at Friendly House.

Laurence A. Ogborn will head a committee appointed yesterday by George C. Kyle, president of the Optimist club, to arrange for the annual Christmas party Dec. 21 at the Friendly house. Other members of the committee are Dale Roth, A. B. Reese, John Grabler, Russell E. Gimbel and Clarke J. Custer.

Twenty members of the Junior Optimist club will receive presents and be treated to a turkey dinner at the party

Dr. Charles L. Shafer, Mansfield physican, was the speaker at yesterday's luncheon meeting of the club at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. He told of his recent trip on the "Circle tour" from New York to San Francisco through the Panama Canal.

DRIVER HELD

Arrested After Car Figures In Collision; Under $500 Bond.

A charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of alcohol was filed today against a motorist who gave police the name of Lester Johns, R. D. 4, Mansfield.

Lieut. C. J. Kalstein and Patrolman Eugene Hartnett said Johns was arrested on East Fifth street last night. His car had collided with another machine earlier in the evening at Bowman and Harker streets, they said. The driver is being held under $500 bond.

WAITS WORD ON PAY INCREASES

Conley Uncertain About Boost Affecting Richland County Pension Staff.

M. W. Conley, manager of the Richland county division of aid for the aged, today awaited information from the state offices at Columbus as to whether the pay increase for welfare workers, announced yesterday, would affect this county.

"I have heard nothing of the proposed increase and can't say whether the five employes of the office here will benefit," Conley said today.

The salary raises, announced by F. M. Pickens, business administrator of the state division of aid for the aged, will total approximately $5,000 a month and will affect 250 field employes in the state. Most of the increase, Pickens said, will be paid by the social security administration.

In addition to Conley, four investigators and one full-time stenographer are working out of the Richland county office. Conley said the investigators are carrying case loads of from 380 to 400 each and are required to make quarterly checks of all the cases under their jurisdiction.

RIDE UNWANTED

Boy 11, Locked In Freight Car, Found 173 Miles Later.

TOLEDO —(AP)— Edward Leo McGarry, 11, of Lowellville, O., anxiously awaited his parents to take him home today after his involuntary 175 mile freight car ride across Ohio.

The child, out of curiosity, crawled into an open box car on a siding near his home Sunday and became imprisoned when the door was snapped shut. He was found asleep in the freight car here yesterday.

HIT BY CAR

Woman Injured In Mishap on Fourth Street.

Mrs. Minnie Kaylor, 36, of 85 East Dickson avenue was in General hospital today suffering from injuries sustained when she was struck by an automobile while attempting to cross East Fourth street this morning.

Robert Harbaugh, 58 Augustine avenue, driver of the car, told police he was making a right turn from North Diamond street onto Fourth when Mrs. Kaylor stepped from the curb into the path of his car. He was not held by police.

Taken to the hospital by Harbaugh, an x-ray examination disclosed that Mrs Kaylor had suffered a fractured pelvis.

Police were searching for Mrs Kaylor's purse containing $38 which she lost when the car hit her.

GREEN, LEWIS CONFER TODAY

will be their first formal meeting since 1935 when Lewis formed the CIO to promote industrial unionism and led 12 key unions out of the craft-formed federation.

Green, for 13 years president of the A. F. of L., and Lewis, chairman of the younger CIO, will abandon their personal differences and attempt a reunion of the 7,300,000 workers they claim as members to present a united front to the current business recession.

Only two other men were in the conference room when the former friends shook hands and sit down to talk. They were George Harrison, president of the Federation of Railway Clerks, and Philip Murray, leader of the CIO's drive to unionize the steel industry. Harrison and Murray respectively led the A. F. of L. and CIO peace committees which have unsuccessfully sought for six weeks to effect a truce.

Machinery for swift action has been prepared. Green, in a surprise move yesterday ordered the federation's executive council to meet here tomorrow and Saturday, ostensibly to discuss the wages and hours bill currently blocked in congress.

Strategists on both sides agreed however, that probably the primary reason for the emergency session was to place the A. F. of L. in a position to bargain without delay.

Best Cough Remedy Is Easily Mixed at Home

It's So Easy! Makes a Big Saving. No Cooking.

To get the quickest relief from coughs due to colds, mix your own remedy at home. Once tried, you'll never use any other kind of cough medicine, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really better medicine than you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, it has no equal. You can feel it penetrating the air passages in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

INCREASED RAIL EARNINGS HELD TRADE BENEFIT

Railroads Say $900,000,000 May Be Spent If Boost In Rates Get Approval.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Major railroads may pour $900,000,000 a year into trade if granted the $417,000,000 annual increase in revenues they seek, Ralph Budd, president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, told the interstate commerce commission.

Railroad credit must be strengthened by adequate earnings, if the sale of securities for financing needed improvements is to be made possible, Budd said as he testified in favor of the road's petition for 15 per cent freight rate advances.

The railways might well replace their 2,000,000 cars in the next two decades through the purchase of 100,000 new cars a year, at an annual expenditure of $300,000,000," Budd said. "They might also advantageously purchase 2,000 new locomotives annually for the next several years, at a yearly cost of another $300,000,000 while a like sum could be spent to good purpose for other physical improvements to the railway plants.

Need Adequate Earnings.

"Such a program of capital expenditures, however, calls for the restoration and stabilization of railroad credit, which in turn, can be brought about only by adequate earnings."

Dick said the debt charges and fixed charges are no higher today than during 1900-07 "when railroads enjoyed the highest credit" They are actually 40 per cent less, he said.

He argued that if the carriers tried to handle today's business with 1895 efficiency "the public would have to pay more than twice the freight rates of today, or the employes would have to be content with only one third of today's wages."

Meanwhile the Great Lakes carriers asked permission to join in the plea for 15 per cent increases. The carriers are the Great Lakes Transit corporation, the Minnesota-Atlantic Transit company, Detroit and Cleveland Navigation company, and the Cleveland and Buffalo Transit company.

JAP CITIZENS KEPT IN DARK ON DEVELOPMENTS IN CHINA

SEATTLE, Wash. —(INS)— An American business man spent 23 days in the heart of Japan during the current Sino-Jap conflict, but it was not until he reached Seattle, Wash., that he was able to find out what was taking place in China.

Dr. G. Layton Grier, of Milford, 70-year-old president of the L. D. Caulk Co., said he talked with business men and read the English language papers in Japan, but it was not until he had traveled thousands of miles away that he obtained an accurate picture of the war.

In the Land of the Rising Sun, he said, the people were kept in the dark.

Censorship, the absence of open military movements, and the hesitancy of Japanese to talk were the reasons advanced by Dr. Grier for the lack of information one can ordinarily obtain in Japan about the Chinese war.

Many English-speaking Japanese, he said, were reluctant—almost afraid—to speak of the war. The natives were very courteous and respectful to Americans, however, he said, and preferred them to the British.

News of the Chinese war was very meager, newspapers devoting more space to the Spanish conflict. Movements of troops took place in outlying districts, away from cities.

NEWS OF THE WORLD IN PICTURES

It Doesn't Pay to Race a Fast Train

The driver and two others were instantly killed when this car couldn't beat the train to a crossing. The big Santa Fe locomotive, roaring along the right of way at San Bernardino, Cal., crushed the automobile, as pictured. Arrow shows body hanging out of front door.

Wooed With Dynamite

When Mrs. Patricia Davis (above), Chicago divorcee, reportedly wouldn't listen to his requests for forgiveness after a quarrel, police charge Charles Karovich, 27, of Chicago, tossed a dynamite bomb into her home. Karovich is said to have confessed stealing the dynamite in 1934 and holding it for the proper occasion.

Fighting a Spectacular Blaze in Atlanta

An extraordinary picture of firefighters in action is shown above. It was snapped as firemen, standing in the ruins of a warehouse, battled a stubborn blaze in Atlanta, Ga. Two of the firemen were seriously injured when the wall collapsed. Men playing water on the ruins are standing in the debris of the fallen wall.

While the Boss Goes Fishing

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt learns about the American Friends Service Community, near Uniontown, Pa., from those who know it best—its children. The first lady is pictured chatting with the youngsters who live on the Quakers' land. (Central Press)

Why He Laughs

The kookaburro, Australia's odd-looking bird pictured above, is called the laughing jackass and is a dread foe of snakes. The bird swoops on them, picks them up, flies back into the air and, by repeatedly dropping the snake, kills it.

Sir Anthony and Lady Eden

Child Bride at 12

Mrs. Charles Petno

Only a fourth-grade student, Anna May Millon, 12, of Uniontown, Pa., eloped to Cumberland, Md., with Charles Petno, 36-year-old coal miner, a week ago, it has been disclosed. The girl's mother said she had consented to the marriage. The husband maintains the affair is his own business and to reporters he "knew how to pick 'em."

New Slaying Witness

John J. Tunney (above), Philadelphia stevedore, is pictured as he appeared before Mayor S. Davis Wilson and gave testimony regarding the friendship between Mary O'Connor, 19, and Mrs. Marie K. Phillips, Olympic gymnast. The O'Connor girl is charged with the slaying of five-year-old Nancy Glenn.

Halifax as Goering's Guest

In Tariff Fight

Representative Edith Nourse Rogers, of Massachusetts, is shown as she gave House members at Washington a chance to see whether the Japanese hand was quicker than the American eye. She produced apparently identical articles of apparel, both Japanese and American made, in her speech against reciprocal trade agreements.

Lives to Tell Gruesome Story

Little Larry Kuntz, 6, of Billings, Montana, is pictured in a hospital where he was taken after telling a gruesome story wherein his father and mother were said to have been shot to death. Frank Robideau, 55, a farmer, is held in connection with the murder pact, which authorities say grew out of a duel agreement over possession of 180 bushels of wheat.

Blond Anna Awaits March to Chair From 'Death Row'

POISON KILLER WEEPS AS SHE SITS IN CELL

'I'll Get Another Trial' She Says After Auto Trip From Cincy to Columbus.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Anna Marie Hahn sat in the hush of a special cell atop Ohio penitentiary's hospital building today, awaiting her scheduled march, three months hence, to death in the electric chair.

The stocky, blond Bavarian, brought here last night from Cincinnati, where she was convicted of the poison-murder of aged Jacob Wagner, remained confident she never would have to make the short walk across the prison yard to the cubicle of death.

Says 'I'll Be Back'.

Looking back from the automobile that sped her here from the city of her crime, she declared spiritedly:

"I'll be back here for another trial."

She took that calm confidence with her into the hurriedly-fitted quarters in the heart of the 103-year-old midtown prison. She sat down in a rocking chair, flung back her heavy brown fur coat, and looked up at Mrs. Raymond Kies and Mrs. Maude Burkhardt, matrons who accompanied her on what might prove her last journey.

Suddenly tears welled in her eyes and she sobbed for a moment. The matrons, drying their own eyes, bade goodbye to their charge and left the 31-year-old woman to new watchers.

It was the first time she had broken, with the exception of a near-collapse at Wilmington during the trip, since she wept uncontrolled a few minutes after a jury of 11 women and one man condemned her to death a month ago.

Charles Stagnaro, Hamilton county chief court bailiff who also escorted Mrs. Hahn, said that at Wilmington she crumpled forward in "pretty much of a faint." Coffee, obtained at a roadside diner, revived her.

Bids Son Goodbye.

Bolsinger has said he would appeal to the "highest court" He lost an attempt to keep her in Cincinnati pending appeals, the district appeals court having overruled him yesterday.

Youngsters Plan Cellar 'Raids' To Get Show 'Tickets'

Small boys and girls are casting speculative eyes at their mothers' fruit cellars these days, as the can matinees get under way at Mansfield theaters.

The first one will be held at the Madison theater Saturday at 9:30 a. m., and every boy and girl who brings a can of fruit or vegetables to the door of the theater will be admitted to see the Laurel and Hardy feature, "Way Out West."

Canned fruits are preferred, and after that any kind of vegetables—tomatoes, string beans, sauerkraut, corn or peas. All contributions will be distributed in the Christmas baskets for needy families the day before Christmas.

Manager William Dworski has arranged a screen program especially for children. In addition to the Laurel and Hardy saga of the wild and woolly west, there will be an animated cartoon and an Our Gang comedy.

16-State Bus Strike Ends In Compromise

Up and Down THE STREET

There was a very definite tremble in the voice of 13-year-old Virginia Davis, 207 Penn avenue, when she called The News-Journal office today and asked if anyone had reported seeing a pretty little gold-colored kitten. It was, she said a "lovely pet", even if it was just plain cat without pedigree. It was so friendly that it followed her to school frequently, finding its way back home alone, she's afraid that on one of its strolls, some one may have coaxed it away, or even more serious harm have come to it. The kitten was last seen about 5 o'clock last evening by some of Virginia's playmates. If anyone has seen the "gold kitten," Virginia would be very grateful if they would call her at her home, Spring 1935.

Supt. Olan La Rue of Madison township schools was given a distinction last night that no other school official probably ever received. The superintendent received one vote for the captaincy of next year's Madison high school eleven when members of the team elected their 1938 leader at the annual Madison football banquet at which Jimmy Aiken, Akron U. coach, was the principal speaker. Joe Miller was named next years' captain.

NAYLOR TO BE CALLED AGAIN

Key Witness In Parole-Buying Inquiry Quizzed by Special Jury For 3 Hours.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Asst. Atty. Gen. George Hurley assumed charge today of a special grand jury investigation of alleged irregularities in the Ohio parole system as Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy was called to Bowling Green on business.

Duffy, who directed the probe at the request of Gov. Martin L. Davey, said that Arch W. Naylor would be recalled before the jury tomorrow.

Naylor, a friend of Leland S. Dougan, former chairman of the state parole board, is considered a key witness in the inquiry to determine whether Ohio convicts bought their freedom. He was granted immunity when he refused to testify without it.

Duffy declined comment on the progress of the investigation yesterday after Naylor had been in the jury room three hours. He said he would not know until Naylor's testimony was completed whether he would proceed with plans for a special grand jury inquiry into the alleged "parole broker's" activities in Stark county.

Naylor was brought here yesterday from Zanesville where he had been held in jail for a week on open charges.

Before leaving for Bowling Green Duffy said that Preston E. Thomas, former Ohio penitentiary warden, would be called before the grand jury.

MIND BLANK 2 YEARS, OHIOAN WAITING REUNION WITH WIFE

REDWOOD CITY, Calif.—(AP)—Jimmie Saunders slowly absorbed the news of two and a half years today and wondered how he would get back home to his wife in Cincinnati from where he strayed under the spell of amnesia on May 18, 1935.

He never expects to know where he has been or what he has been doing.

He awoke in jail here after a chiropractor set a dislocated vertebra in his neck. He blinked at the bars and began to shout. His first questions were:

"Where am I and why am I in jail?"

He was told that he had been wandering in the street, unable to explain his business, and was booked as a vagrant.

For all he knew it was still that day in May. Then he began to realize that something strange had happened to him.

What of his wife, he demanded next. A telegram from Ohio soon informed him that she was alive and well, and still waiting for his return. She always thought something like this had happened to him.

The matter of the moment was that he had no money to get home and his wife had none to send him.

He wasn't much concerned yet with what happened to the world but it was all news to him. The last thing he remembered was that he was riding with two friends in an automobile.

If anything happened, such as a wreck that dislocated his neck and affected his mind, he doesn't know about it.

There was a man named Landon running against Mr. Roosevelt for the presidency, he recalled. Mr. Roosevelt was in the third year of his first term. John D. Rockefeller was approaching his 100th year; the dirigible Hindenberg ruled the skies; the St. Louis Cardinals were baseball champions; the Emperor Selassie was on the throne of Abyssinia and Huey Long was in congress.

WAGE INCREASE GIVEN, CLOSED SHOP REJECTED

Greyhound Drivers Resume Normal Schedules After Settlement Pact.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Nine Greyhound bus lines resumed normal operations in 16 states today—a compromise agreement negotiated by a federal labor conciliator, ending a strike of drivers called by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

John L. Conner, the federal labor conciliator who flew here from Washington when the strike was called Thanksgiving day, announced the settlement reached last night, was "satisfactory to both parties."

Conner said that under the terms of the agreement, the companies granted wage increases but refused demands for a closed shop.

Wipes Out Ultimatum.

All terms of the contract become effective immediately with the exception of an increase of one-fourth of a cent per mile for drivers which becomes effective July 1, 1938.

Ivan Bowen, counsel for the Greyhound companies, said the agreement to all intents and purposes wiped out the company ultimatum that striking drivers must have returned to work by noon yesterday to be considered still in the employ of the companies.

"All drivers are recognized now as during and before the strike, as Greyhound employes," Bowen said. "That is tantamount to no discrimination."

Bowen said under the contract which was signed for a one-year period, the brotherhood could not call a strike unless the company violates the terms and then only by a two-third vote of company drivers.

McGrath said the companies agreed to dismiss damage suits totalling $6,300,000 which were filed against the brotherhood on behalf of the Greyhound lines claiming injury by the strike.

The Great Game of Politics

—By FRANK R. KENT

THERE OUGHT to be general appreciation of the speech made the other night by Senator Pat Harrison, chairman of the great senate finance committee. Because, besides being a very sound speech, indeed, full of horse sense and unmistakable sincerity, it set something of a precedent.

Certainly, Senator Harison is the first statesman since the beginning of the Roosevelt regime and in any way connected with the administration personally to admit a mistake. Even prior to the first Roosevelt election it is not easy to recall any man in public life who made a similar confession. It is true the president early in his first term, not once but twice, assured the people that the new and startling legislation he proposed was experimental, and that if any of it proved not to work well he would be the first to say so.

BUT THAT NOBLE promise, warmly praised at the time, has remained singularly unfulfilled. Though experiment after experiment has bogged, some of the major ones have been abandoned and others, such as the Rural Rehabilitation administration, lie crumpled and confused, not once in nearly five years has the president owned to an error. On the contrary, he and all the other New Dealers, big and little, have held their pose of infallibility and blandly pursue their way through the wreckage of their expensive schemes as though everything were splendid.

ALL OF WHICH makes Senator Harrison's declaration the more notable. For four years he co-operated with Mr. Roosevelt in every legislative proposal, though some of them clashed with his convictions and revolted his reason. Last year it was Senator Harrison who took from the president the vicious undistributed-surplus tax, sold to him by Dr. Oliphant, the treasury adviser, and put it through the senate, disregarding the warnings and overriding the opposition. Now, Mr. Harrison stands up like a man and says he was wrong. It is a refreshing thing to have a public man do that. Particularly as, in addition, he urges that the wrong be righted through drastic modification of the law he so strongly supported a year ago.

HE HAD believed, said Senator Harrison, that that law would stop "unfair practices of certain corporations which accumulated earnings in order to prevent the payment of surtaxes by their stockholders." Experience has conclusively shown, he said, that it did nothing of the sort. The fact is that the law failed in both its moral and financial objectives; that it imposed undue hardships, wrought great injustice, accomplished no good. Therefore, he pledged himself, as speedily as possible, to repeal or modify this law—in other words, retrace the step, wipe out the mistake. Mr. Harrison does not say the mistake was Mr. Roosevelt's and that what he did was done at the request of Mr. Roosevelt. He simply says it was a mistake and should be corrected. He does not need to say the other thing because everybody knows from whence it came.

IT IS EASY to say that the mistake which Senator Harrison admits is now fairly obvious to everyone. It is easy to say, too, that he was defeated for the senate leadership by White House influence and that that has diluted his enthusiasm for the White House incumbent. But Senator Harrison can afford to disregard these slurs, it being perfectly well known that he was never at any time in wholehearted sympathy with the New Deal philosophy, but was held in line for policies which he distrusted, partly because of his inbred belief in party organization and partly because of his personal devotion to the late Senator Robinson, who, in his turn, was held by his hope—so tragically unrealized—of going on the supreme court.

AFTER THE death of Mr. Robinson and his own failure to be elected leader, because of Mr. Roosevelt's support of "Dear Alben" (Senator Barkley), his friends voiced the belief that, for the first time since 1932, Senator Harison was in position to be himself. His speech the other night demonstrated that that is what he is being. While here seems to be a bitterness in his system, it nevertheless, must be an immense satisfaction to Senator Harrison to be able to tell the truth about a matter like this surplus tax and freely express his convictions without feeling it necessary to inquire whether they are in accord with the White House wish or securing the Roosevelt approval. This was one of those honest confessions of error said to be fine for the soul and so rare in politics as to be almost nonexistent. It is an example that might be followed profitably by the president, but isn't likely to be. However, there are certain indications that before long similar utterances may come from other senators on the Democratic side. If anyone thinks that this means "Dear Alben" he will be wrong.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Movie myths—and how they miss:

1. Child stars never, never become successes when they grow up. (Madge Evans, Johnny Downs, Mitzi Green have done right well—and even Jackie Coogan's signed a contract.)
2. The waitresses in movietown restaurants are uniformly beautiful girls who tried to crash the movies and failed. (They are not uniformly beautiful, and most of them never tried to crash the movies.)
3. All jokes involving the befuddled producer happened to Sam Goldwyn. (A few of them did—but many of them happened to nobody.)
4. Pictures with a religious angle are taboo, dangerous, sure failures. (One of DeMille's biggest was "The King of Kings." Another was "The Ten Commandments," still another "The Crusades." And a new version of "Joan of Arc" is on the way.)
5. Costume pictures are taboo, dangerous, sure failures. (But since "Little Women" and before, good costume pictures have minted money. The screen's biggest money-maker, "The Birth of a Nation," didn't wear the latest from Paris.)
6. Glamor girls can't be funny. (Ask Carole Lombard, Claudette Colbert, Irene Dunne, Gladys Swarthout—and don't be surprised if the next tomato barrage is for Dietrich, although this is just a hope, not a promise.)
7. All comedians want to play Hamlet, or Napoleon. (Chaplin did once, but he never tried, did he? Comedians like butter on their bread, and know how to get it.)
8. The "average life" of a star is five years. (Once, maybe, but now it's nearer 10.)
9. Once "washed up" in pictures, a star can't come back. (Will Rogers, Marie Dressler, and lately John Barrymore, all heard Hollywood say they were finished.)
10. Man and wife shouldn't play opposite each other in romantic roles. (Joel McCrea and Frances Dee are in "Wells Fargo," Franchot Tone and Joan Crawford habitually act together, Alice Faye and Tony Martin are in "Sally, Irene and Mary.")
11. The public wants to laugh, serious stuff is "out." (So the public went for "Stella Dallas" and had a very nice cry.)
12. The public is fed up with this slapstick stuff, it wants good, serious dramatics for a change. (So the public stayed away from one of the year's prize movies, "Make Way for Tomorrow," which was too honest, maybe..

A week later he had 60-odd letters from ex-convicts offering services as technical advisers. Many enclosed pictures of themselves in convict garb, together with "references" in the form of penal records.

Wrote one: "I ought to know a lot about prisons because I spent 14 years in one. . . . Better take me for the job because some of those other boys are going right back in again."

CHINESE CITY SUBJECT OF SAPPHO CLUB MEET

Mrs. Butterfield, Miss Proctor, Hostesses—Mrs. Jenkins Contrasts Eastern, Western Civilizations.

MRS. A. C. BUTTERFIELD and Miss Mary Proctor were hostesses yesterday afternoon at the Women's Club to members of the Sappho club when the club met for a program on China. Mrs. J. H. Todd gave the music notes and played the "Chinese Suite" by Friml.

A duet, "Divertissement" by Tschaikowsky was given by Mrs. Todd and Mrs. Butterfield.

Mrs. E. C. Jenkins spoke on "Peiping—Northern Capital" emphasizing the contrast between the western and the eastern civilizations as seen side by side on the streets of the ancient city.

One of the more unusual things seen is the automobile and the street cars on the well-paved and brightly lighted streets with rickshaws, camel caravans, carts, and wheelbarrows going along as they did in the days of Marco Polo. Mrs. Jenkins spent considerable time discussing the city within a city, as Peiping is called, because the Chinese city and the Tartar city are both there.

She also spoke on the Ming temples and the natural amphitheater which has been used as a cemetery for the 15 kings of the Ming dynasty. Mrs. Jenkins also spoke of the national museum which is the only one in the world containing nothing but the treasures of its own civilization. Concluding her paper, the speaker, who had traced the customs, background, history, approach to the city, religion, people, and foods, indicated that the unsettled conditions existing in China today may alter the civilization and the tradition a great deal.

Miss Helen Hartman sang two numbers by Lily Strickland. They were "My Lover Is a Fisherman" and "Me and My Partner." Mrs. Fred Schuster, Mrs. Retta Freundlich and Miss Margaret Cross were guests.

For the Dec. 15 meeting at the Women's Club Mrs. Ambrose Middleton and Miss Thelma Reed will be hostesses.

PLANS BAKE SALE

Members of Delta Zigma Zeta will have a bake sale Dec. 11 at the Third Street Market it was announced last night at the meeting of the club at the home of Miss Virginia Williams, 91 Highland avenue. Miss Sue Belle Paste is in charge. President, Miss Katherine Fighter, heard reports on the plans for the Christmas dance set for Dec. 27. It was announced that the affair will be in the Mansfield-Leland ball room with Tommy Van playing. Miss Juanita Miller poured as refreshments were served. The next meeting will be with Miss Bertha Jessen, 216 West Third street.

Two Recent Brides Entertained At Shower Parties

Two recent brides were honored at showers at the homes of their friends last night. Mrs Charles Wolford, Mrs. Paul Blust, and Miss Martha Wiles were hostesses at the Wolford home last night when a miscellaneous shower was given to Mrs. Robert Smith, the former Helen Maglott.

Five hundred was played with prizes being awarded to Miss Mable Barr and Mrs. L. F. Maglott.

The former Inga Jesson who is now Mrs. Edward Fatkins, jr., was the guest of honor when the Misses June and Doris Betz, 75 Atchison avenue, entertained for her at a shower last night.

Pink and white decorations were used throughout the house with a large pink covered sprinkling can forming the table centerpiece and cards attached to cellophane streamers directing the bride to her gifts.

At bridge Miss Mary Elizabeth Miller and Miss Jerry Lock won prizes. Miss Miller gave her prizes to the guest of honor. The hostesses presented Mrs. Fatkins with a lace table cloth. Plans for another shower with Miss Emily Cox and Miss Miller as hostesses are now being made.

Delano Lodge Has Benefit Parties

The second in a series of benefit dances was given last night by members of Delano lodge, assisted by its auxiliary, at the lodge hall, 394 Bowman street.

Benefit dances will be given every Wednesday night and bingo parties every Friday night until Christmas week, according to Harry Boyer, chairman Proceeds will be used to provide Christmas baskets and supply other needs of approximately 400 families of the Empire Steel company, who are unemployed at the present time, Boyer said.

The benefit proceeds will be supplemented with a contribution of 400 from the Employes Civic Fund of the plant.

Admission to the dances may be cash or contributions of canned goods, a large supply of which has already been accumulated in this manner Mrs William Bell was chairman of the women's group last night, which sold refreshments, profits going to the general fund.

The second bingo party will be held Friday night at Delano hall, with a dance again next Wednesday night

Past Pocahontas Club Has Social Meeting

Mrs. Rose Berry, South Adams, was hostess with Mrs. Howard Hannan, Mrs. Anna Wiggan, Mrs. Reid Troskey, and Mrs. William Beer as assistants yesterday for the meeting of the Past Pocahontas club. There were 30 members and two guests presents Guests were the Misses Betty and Rosemary Altaffer. Following the business meeting bunco and five hundred were played with prizes being awarded to Mrs. Mary Fox and Mrs. Rose Trexler.

Food for Christmas baskets was collected and there was a Christmas exchange Mrs Mary Hill, 112 Hedges street, will be hostess to the club Jan. 3. The team will meet Monday evening with Mrs. Troskey, West Fourth street

Review of Reviews Club Honor Mrs. Painter

Substituting a farewell party in honor of Mrs H. W. Painter who will leave about the end of the week for Jackson, Tenn., for a regular business meeting in December, members of the Review of Reviews club met last night at Shriver's tea room.

Mrs. H. W. Fox and her committee were in charge of arrangements Mrs. W. E. Forte was the winner of the bridge prize and Mrs. J. L. Keffer and Mrs P. B. Pecht were guests of the club.

There will be no meeting in December, but the club will distribute baskets of food to the needy for Christmas.

Suit of Suede

The suede suit is smart for all winter, and may be worn without a topcoat for all but the coldest weather. It is especially practical for the college lass.

This one is made of a new sheltersuede, which is shower and windproof. The jacket has padded shoulders, which give it a military air. If the wearer wants to stride across campus or country, she has only to unbutton the bottom leather-covered button of her skirt.

NEW GLOVES

Manners, Royalty Subjects Given At Student Club

Mrs. James Crum, 491 Davey avenue, was hostess yesterday to members of the Student club. She was assisted by Mrs. Walter Massenburg when the 20 members heard a program of several papers and a book review.

"A Tale of Table Manners" was the title of Mrs. Ivor Balyeat's paper and she was followed by Miss Mary Lou Kaufman who taled on "Catherine II of Russia."

The John Rathbone Oliver book, "Priest of Pagan" was reviewed by Miss Elizabeth Weinert. Mrs. Louis Wenger poured at the tea table

Mrs. Arthur Glattke will be hostess for the Christmas party and gift exchange to be held at the Ohio State Reformatory Dec. 15 at 8:30 p. m.

Auxiliary Elects Officers For 1938

Mrs. Eunice Cleland was elected president of the Auxiliary No. 100 Sons of Union Veterans last night at the regular business meeting. Mrs. Jane M. Taylor is vice president

The other officers are Mrs. Myrtle Foladey, chaplain; Mrs. Treva Campbell, treasurer; Mrs. Ella McHugh, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Rosemary Yoha, guide; Mrs. Ethel Miller, associate guide; Miss Catherine Pfeifer and Miss Edith Snyder, color bearers; Mrs. Callie Ritter, inside guard; Mrs Clementine Myers, outside guard; Mrs. Grace Downs, councilor; and Mrs. Sidney White, trustee

Installation will be Jan 5. The next meeting will be a Christmas party Dec. 15 at the G. A. R. hall with Mrs. Georgia Cook and her committee in charge.

Ritualistic and routine business of the meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Nettie Kornoely and plans were made to supply welfare baskets to needy families. Mrs. Kornoely served refreshments to the organization after the meeting.

ANNUAL BLIND SALE WILL BEGIN MONDAY

Victorian Club to Sponsor Week-Long Event at Mansfield Department Store—Mrs. Elmer Post, Chairman.

THE ANNUAL sale for the blind, which is one of the major projects of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, will be sponsored in Mansfield from Dec. 6 through Dec. 11 by the Victorian club. The sale to benefit the blind will be held at the R. B. Maxwell company all next week.

Mrs. Elmer Post, committee woman for work of the blind for the middle north district, is in charge of general arrangements for the sale. She is being assisted by Mrs. Ambrose Middleton, Mrs. James Bailey, Mrs. J. K. Johnston, Mrs. Carl Henkel, Mrs. Sidney Palmer and Mrs. Fred Nixon.

Members of the Victorian club who are giving their services for the sale are Mrs. John Finefrock, Mrs. W. M. Layton, Mrs. Charles G. Brown, Mrs. Dwight Weir, Mrs. Mark Wolcott, Mrs. Victor Smith, Mrs. Robert S. Gibson, Mrs. John W. Graham, Mrs. Irl L. Ficher, Mrs. D. C. Lavender and Mrs. Carl O. Russell.

Among the articles which will be put on sale are baskets, rugs, small pieces of furniture, dish cloths, tea towels, ironing board pads and covers, and luncheon sets. The purpose of this annual sale is to aid blind persons in the state of Ohio to be partially or completely self-supporting. The work the blind do may be observed any Thursday at the Salvation Army headquarters.

The Ohio State Federation of Women awarded a "talking book" to the Tourist club and the Sorosis club for having the highest sales average of any city in the state over the past two years. These organizations had sponsored the sale in the past. The book has been placed in the Salvation Army headquarters on Thursdays so that the blind may hear the programs of stories it presents.

The Round Table club, sponsor of last year's sale, was also awarded a prize for sales. Proceeds from this sale go directly to blind persons and are used to provide them with materials to continue their work and life necessities. The "Seeing Eye School," which trains dogs to lead the blind, is also receiving contributions from the sales.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Phrl Pendleton, 479 West Fourth street, was entertained at a party recently in honor of her sixth birthday In the games and contests prizes were given to Dorothy Aubruy, Gene Riley, and Donald Walker. Decorations were in pink and green when refreshments were served the 15 guests.

Mrs. Finefrock Talks On Queens At Journey Club

Members of the Journey club met yesterday with Mrs. C. V. McConnell for a business meeting and program. The business of the day included plans to make contributions to the Community Christmas program being sponsored by The News-Journal and to also provide a basket for one needy family.

"Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth" was the topic of the paper presented by Mrs. Harry Finefrock. Mrs. Finefrock explained that the two regents were daughters of the famous Henry the Eighth and that the half-sisters were very fond of each other. When Mary died she left the state in order and instructions for the Good Queen Bess to follow.

Elizabeth was both a beautiful and brilliant woman and she could have married any one of a number of suitors, but she chose to devote herself to her country.

The next meeting will be a Christmas party in the Chinese room of the Mansfield-Leland hotel on Dec 15. The program will be a sealed one.

Wife Needs To Control Emotions

By VIRGINIA LEE

A well known author, in a recent book, deplores the fact that women always are saying that their sex does things "just as well as men," or that they are able to do the same things as men.

That is all wrong, according to him. They always have been able to do what men do, he asserts, but they should, by "disciplining their emotions," become the greatest possible civilizing influence in society.

Women already "keep up most of our music, maintain most of our painting and sculpture, are the mainstay of the churches, educational, cultural and social institutions," he states, but they should forget all about doing the things that men do, and imitate the women of the Renaissance who "worked like beavers at remaking themselves, for the enjoyment they got out of it."

It is a good idea—to try to discipline our emotions. Not that I think women show any more emotion over things than men, as a general thing. I happen to know men pretty well. Have been associated with them through many experiences. I have done my best to comfort and cheer them in their woes, from juvenile bumps and bruises, to failure of first loves, school-troubles, unemployment problems, marriage and divorce. And are they emotional!

But a letter this morning from an agitated young wife—only 20 years old—made me feel again the need of women to control their emotions. She was jealous of her good looking, jolly young husband.

I could see that if she was not warned and made the necessary effort, her husband was going to find that in place of a happy, loving companion, he had taken to his bosom a jealous, nagging woman who could not understand that a man could love her very much and still laugh and joke with other people. I wrote her a personal letter, so I'm not telling her name here.

Practicality, Simplicity Mark This Pretty Home Frock.

By MARIAN MARTIN

If you're a busy housewife, take a little time out and make yourself a couple of these practical house frocks that carry the wrap-around closing to the back. It will pay you in the long run, for they're so easy to slip into, so comfortable to work in and so easy to iron. And last, but not least, they always look trim and neat. Marian Martin's Complete Diagrammed Sew Chart makes your dressmaking task extremely easy . . . just a few simple seams to sew up and a few buttons to sew on. You may substitute simple button trimming (see view B) for the crisp ric-rac braid. Three sleeves to choose from . . . a short, puffed sleeve with or without a cuff, or a full, flared sleeve.

Pattern 9526 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4⅛ yards 36 inch fabric and 2¾ yards ric-rac braid.

BE SURE TO STATE SIZE

Send fifteen cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address, and style number.

Get on the bright side of fashion! Send for the new winter Marian Martin Pattern Book—just full of all the latest style news you want to know! The easiest of patterns show you how to look smart at work and play, every hour of the day. Alluring dress-up frocks, kiddie-togs, and slenderizing flattery for the matron! See the thrilling gift suggestions, accessory news, fabric tips! Price of book 15 cents. Price of pattern 15 cents. Book and pattern together 25 cents.

Scent Should Be Applied To Body

By GLADYS GLAD

"America's Most Famous Beauty"

"As I am still of rather a tender age I have not, as yet, had much experience in the use of perfumes. I think I have found the scent that is best suited to my type, but am at a loss as to how to apply it to advantage. Can you assist me?

MARY."

Perfume should always be applied directly to the skin, and not to any portion of one's clothing. Materials have scents of their own, and when you apply perfume to a fabric, the combination of odors may be far from pleasant.

Touch your perfume lightly on your arms, your neck and behind your ears, when applying it. The warmth of the skin will expedite the evaporation of the alcohol, and bring out more fully the sweet fragrance of the precious oils. And always apply your perfume in moderation. The fragrance should be subtle, mystifying, and not blatant.

* * *

"Friends tell me I should never use cream on my face because my skin is inclined to be oily. Yet oddly enough, my skin seems to benefit by cream cleansings. Do you think that it is really harmful to use cream on an oily skin? "EDNA."

I personally do not think it harmful to submit an oily skin to one cream cleansing a day, providing that the correct sort of a cream is used. A heavy cream should not be applied to an oily skin, as it is likely to aggravate the oily condition. But a good cold cream may be employed if it is thoroughly removed afterward. Dirt and grime easily sink deep into the pores of the oily skin, and a thorough cleansing method is necessary.

It is a good plan when cleansing the skin at night, to first apply a pure cold cream. This will soften it, open the pores, and loosen the embedded particles of dust and dirt. Then remove the cream and scrub the skin well with tepid water and a pure, bland soap. Finish with the application of a good astringent to close the pores and to remove any remaining vestige of grease.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"THAT WILL be all, Jim," I said hastily, in my urge to get our faithful helper out so that his telltale face could not be scrutinized by Noel and Mary. "And you can take your time about servicing the car. There's no particular hurry. Mr. Noel and Miss Mary are taking one of our cars and going to the beach. They will be gone all the afternoon."

"That will be nice," Jim said hurriedly, and bolted. Mary looked after him with a puzzled look in her eyes.

"What do you suppose is eating Jim?" she asked. "He looks like the fourth conspirator. His eyes are positively roving."

I tried to laugh easily, and wondered if I had succeeded.

"Both Jim and Katie are tremendously excited by your homecoming," I said. "And Jim, I imagine, thinks it an especial honor to be given charge of your car."

"I hope he will be able to get it fixed all right," Noel said a bit anxiously. "Father is surely going to make an awful row if I don't get back on time."

For a panicky second I wondered if it were possible to call Jim back again and cancel the pact I had made with him for putting Noel's car out of commission. Suppose I were exposing Noel to some unusually unpleasant experience! Then I steeled myself with the reflection that no possible "row" his father would make could outweigh with Noel the chance of another full day with the young wife he adored, and who was so soon to be separated from him for an indefinite time.

"Oh, I am sure he will," I said with the vague cheerfulness usual to such occasions. "That garage man is very good, you know."

"Yes, I know," he said, and then Mother Graham struck in with what she patently thought was unsurpassed finesse.

"Margaret," she said, "I asked Richard to do an errand for me a while ago. I wonder if he has attended to it. Do you know what he is doing now?"

"I think he is telephoning," I said truthfully, trying to convey a silent warning to her to change the subject.

"Ah," she said. "I did ask him to make a telephone call for me. That was part of my errand, and he's probably seeing to it. Oh, by the way, Mary, tell me some more words that Faith knows. To think she's learned to walk and talk without me! It just seems as if I couldn't wait another second to see her."

"You won't have to wait much longer, Mother," I said soothingly. "If it were a question of the small boys alone, I'd keep them up there as long as possible. But I want Faith to have the advantage of the wonderful Long Island autumn with its mild sunny weather. We'll have a full month longer here of mild weather than they have up there, so I'm planning to bring them back very shortly."

"What do you mean by shortly?" my mother-in-law asked, and for the next half hour we discussed the children and the camp while I saw Noel and Mary getting more uneasy by the minute as they saw the precious hours of their afternoon slipping away in chatter.

When Dicky finally came through the door, giving me a "high sign" as he came, I could have shrieked with relief. He wasted no time in releasing the prisoners.

"Mother Darling, I revere you," he said, "but do you realize that these children have only the one afternoon, and it is fast slipping away?"

"Oh, you must go at once," she said flutteringly. "I didn't mean to keep you so long."

"The small car is just outside the door," he said, "and it has plenty of gas and oil. I would recommend that you get into it as soon as you can and be on your way."

"We'll do that little thing," Mary told him, and the next instant she had caught her young husband by the hand, and they were lightly running down the steps. Mother Graham waited only until they were out of hearing before putting a tense question to Dicky.

"Did you get that man?" she asked.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, Dec. 3.

LIVELY CONDITIONS, with much enterprise in launching new undertakings, is read from today's planetary configurations. But this progressive situation is menaced by disturbed and agitated conditions, with upheavals, disrupted plans and possibly by treachery, intrigue and deception, if not fraud. The consequent confusion and perplexity may best be met by vigilance and a composed and sagacious review of the situation in jeopardy.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may feel their energies and spirit of enterprise and initiative stimulated to high purpose during the year, but the validity of this will be put to the test by disturbed and agitated situations, with unsettlement and new factors to consider probably in strange places or with strangers.

A child born on this day may be lively, energetic and talented, but unsettled and fond of the strange and the new. It may also be shrewd and crafty, taking pleasure in intrigues and secret organizations.

The leaves of house plants should be kept free from dust, hence frequent washings are absolutely essential, although when watering never wet the flowers of the plants, or allow drops of water to stand on the leaves in the sunshine.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

VULNERABILITY DECIDES

BIDS WHICH would be terrible when vulnerable can be brilliantly sound when you are not vulnerable. It is all a matter of what you risk in comparison to what you stand to gain. If the possible loss from the bid is more than the opponents' game would be worth, then you may be sticking your neck out too far. If, however, the points you can lose by the bids are less than the opponents might take from you anyway, then you are within the bounds of good winning contract.

(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

East and South passed here and West started the bidding with 1-Diamond. North overcalled with 1-No Trump, which passed around to West, who doubled. North now tried 2-Clubs, which East doubled.

Three diamonds were cashed, on which East discarded two spades. A spade was led to East's A, who then returned a heart to West's K. A second spade was led and ruffed by East and a heart led to West to return a third spade for East to ruff. The East-West pair were pleased with their success until they discovered they could have made a heart game.

Had North been vulnerable, his bid would have been dangerous in view of his partner's original pass, but in this particular instance he had very little to lose if the opponents could make a vulnerable game.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: South, East-West vulnerable).

How should South play to make 3-No Trumps after the lead of the club 3?

My Neighbor Says:

When cream is warm it will not whip. When chilled the fat congeals and cream thickens with whipping.

Before baking potatoes, cut an oval-shape opening lengthwise through the skin. When baked this oval-shaped piece is quickly peeled off, making stuffing easier.

Hear ye, hear ye! I snooped plenty of easy-to-choose gifts for hard-to-please men today. Where? At GOLDSMITH'S Akin to rest: classic patterns in a distinguished quality of linen and silk . . . high count and lustrous warp sateen prints . . . one pair I almost bought myself for Christmas—a very swank gray and wine affair ($5) . . . other sleeping pyjamas in cotton run in price from $1.65 to $2.50. Luxurious leisure: lounging pyjamas in silk are $5.96. Jacquard heavy crepe loungies go for $10.95, and Mmmm—you should see them! One style of cotton lounging pj's, Glover made, by the way, . . . had gayly checked tops with extra wide legged plain trousers—they sell for $2.95. Go in to GOLDSMITH'S and see the pyjamas there. Every type immaginable and at all prices. Have you seen their robes yet? If not, you're missing something! Give your husband pyjamas and robes to come home to. Relate them for perfect harmony in spirit and color . . . key them to a man's personality to give the greatest comfort and relaxation. At GOLDSMITH'S you'll find Terry Robes and blazer pyjamas for the athletic man who likes brisk showers and rub-downs . . . Persian pattern robes and cloud pattern silk pyjamas for the man who travels and wants things that pack well in a small space . . . flannel robes and sateen pyjamas for the man who likes conservative clothes . . . Plaid robes and striped broadcloth pyjamas for the boy in college . . . cocktail jackets to the suave bachelor who entertains at home. If you want him to know you're "up" on menswear—shop at GOLDSMITH'S. I almost forgot—Believe it or not—they have colorful outing flannel pj's at $1.95, $2 and $2.50—In lounge styles, too . . . and don't think Grandpa's the only one who still wears them!

Worry, worry, worry . . . Poor Santa seems to be in a fix There are soooo many women who "have everything." But maybe there's one thing he's overlooked. Let's be smart and help him out! No woman ever has too much perfume (if she doesn't like perfume, she'll like the refreshing colognes) . . . for there's a perfume to fit every mood . . . every dress . . . every occasion! At REED'S today I reveled in the delicate perfumes of Lanvin, de Raymond, and Lucien Lelong. Are you familiar with Lanvin's "Arpege"? Go in and sniff it—you'll be its slave! Other popular Lanvin perfumes are "My Sin" and "Scandal" (Honestly!) DeRaymond's new "Deviltry" is light and spicy, but with an undercurrent of . . . well no word expresses it quite as well as "Deviltry." Mimzy is still a favorite with blondes, as brunettes still favor Pinx for daytime wear. These are both represented by De Raymond in bottles of all sizes and shapes. And now for a few words on Lucien Lelong who has startled and pleased the perfume-conscious world so often with such odors as "Indiscret" (done up in a regal white and gold leather case) . . . "Opening Night," "Mon Image," "Penthouse," "Whisper," "Bain Parfait De Monaco," and such a wonderful "Gardenia." All these perfumes have been bottled and cased in beauty and should make excellent gifts . . . at REED'S.

Santa's on the run . . . he's due for a visit with the Kandy Kids in SEARS Toyland this Saturday and every Saturday from now till Christmas. He'll be there to talk to your kiddies while you snoop around on your own from 2 to 5 in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 at night (so Dad can get a kick out of it too). You'll find the Toyland in SEAR'S Basement. Remember last year? The wonderful variety of toys they had? Well, this year they've outdone themselves. I had a hard time keeping my mind on practical snooping—the temptation to stop and toy with every clever little gadget was so great. Dolls are, of course, in profusion, but new kinds of dolls . . . beautiful little things that simply will not break, no matter how often they're squashed in loving arms, or dropped carelessly on the floor, or tossed out of their beds by too enthusiastic rocking to sleep. Yes, trains are there, too . . . slick streamline trains that whiz around the tracks instead of merely running . . . tsk tsk, the speed age again. Take the kids—you'll have a grand time yourself and can do the necessary shopping around while the youngsters (the younger ones, I mean) are having a heart-to-heart talk with Santa. Saturday —at SEAR'S

NEW DISTRICT

CCC Camps to Be Consolidated Under Federal Plan.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Consolidation of Ohio's 35 civilian conservation corps camps into one district, effective Dec. 10, has been announced at Fort Hayes, headquarters of the fifth corps area, U. S. army.

At present, several southern Ohio camps are under the jurisdiction of Fort Thomas, Ky., under the new setup Fort Knox will be hadquarters for all Kentucky camps except two, which are to remain in the West Virginia area.

The consolidation was arranged as an economy move. Ohio CCC camps are to be under the direction of Col. Thomas Gimperling of Columbus, present director of the Fort Hayes CCC area.

BUILD HUGE DOCK

Gibraltar Port to Be Widened to Accommodate Big Ships.

GIBRALTAR—(AP)—Work will begin shortly on widening Gibraltar's largest dry dock so that it will be capable of accommodating the biggest capital ships of the British navy.

Several hundred workmen will work on the dock, which is more than 850 feet in length.

Named Health Winners In 1937 4-H Contest

31,950 KILLED

U. S. Traffic Toll For 10 Months 8 Per Cent Higher.

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—The nation's traffic accidents cost 31,950 lives during the first 10 months of 1937, the Nationay Safety Council has reported.

The toll represented an increase of eight per cent over the 29,560 deaths for the same period of 1936. Fatalities last month totaled 3,890, a six per cent increase over September and a one per cent increase over October, 1936.

Fall River, Mass., Albany, N. Y., and El Paso, Tex., were the largest cities which went through October without a traffic fatality.

Milwaukee retained first place aming cities of more than 500,000 population for the lowest death rate. Its rate was 10.6, compared with an average of 17.4 for all cities of its population class.

Ohio's death rate was 35.4.

ON THE RECORD

Phonograph Will Reveal Will of Resident of Australia.

BRISBANE, Australia—(AP)—A Brisbane man had his will made on a phonograph record. In addition to dictating his desires regarding the estate he has given his opinion of certain relatives.

After his death the record will be played in the hearing of his family and friends.

OHIO TOLL 1,090

Most Death Cars Driven on Wrong Side of Road, Bureau Says.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—A statistical report of the state traffic bureau lists 1,090 persons killed on Ohio highways outside municipalities during the first 10 months of 1937.

Driving on the wrong side of the road, the report said, accounted for more accidents than any other single cause in 20,450 mishaps investigated.

THE STATE vs. ELNA JEPSON

By NANCY BARR MAVITY

(Copyright 1937)

CHAPTER XXIX

Curtis tore the battered box away, brought forth a red hat—the perky hat he had seen before when she wore it for courage, and adjusted it to her black head.

"Elna's badge of courage. I remembered. You do need me once in a while, don't you?"

Judge Ashton finally woke to his duty. He said, "Young man, you are hereby fined ten dollars for contempt of court."

Curtis promptly deposited a ten-dollar bill on the bench. "I don't feel any contempt of you," he beamed up.

With Judicial sternness, Judge Ashton said, "By the order of the court, you will leave immediately."

"All right," said Curtis. "I got what I want And thank you, sir."

Seeking the nearest exit, Curtis put his hand on the window sill and leaped to the ground.

An arm reached over the bench to Elna's. The touch of the old judge was so kindly that she drew a deep breath and found courage to speak. "Is it proper, your honor, that I should try to explain?"

"The court will be glad to hear you."

"It's only this," she said with trembling lips. "I know you think that was another trick, but it wasn't, truly. Curtis is always like that. If he thinks there's something I want he goes after it and doesn't stop for anything. He's never been in court before. He just heard I wanted a red hat—because it helped me once before—and thought of nothing but getting it to me in time."

"And did you want it?"

"Yes," answered Elna with bowed head

"Then I think I'd be rather proud of your Lochinvar, who ought to be in jail this minute And by the way I'm a rather old man. Do you think by this time I haven't learned the difference between tricks and the real thing?"

* * *

This time Elna only nodded silently. She sank back into the witness chair, her face held high, the red hat on her head, as she heard the familiar droning of the phrases adjourning the court, at the request of McClung.

"I agree," said the judge, "that this is no time to subject a witness, already ill, to the strain of carrying the sole burden of the defense testimony."

Back in her cell, a little smile hovered at the corner of Elna's lips as she adjusted the red hat to its old angle It was out of season, and every woman writer would make fun of it. Never mind, Curtis remembered that she had worn it as an armor of defiance against grief. Vaguely she remembered other things he had done without thought of thanks—the personal fittings in her bag, which meant months of casual questions and observation when they dropped into a shop together, and which she had not examined closely enough to notice.

"And now the papers will make a silly fool out of him! They'll love slamming him because they're all against me." She had to don the hat again before she dared pick up the pile of papers that Jamieson left at her door.

* * *

Then Elna learned something about the press. The Curtis Graham episode had caught the newspaper sense as a natural "wow." The thing had romance, humor, excitement! Best of all, it had never happened before, which is the dearest delight of an editor.

Curtis was easily traced by the name spoken by Elna. Lying fully dressed and worrying about Elna, he was roused by many steps which stopped at his door They swarmed in at his casual "Come in." He rose as if in surprise.

"I am Jonas S. Parker, business man from Indianapolis. You must have come to the wrong room." Then he caught sight of the cameras held under coats. "All right," Curtis capitulated with what Elna called his beam "You may take the picture of Jonas S. Parker on one condition—that in the stories of what happened this afternoon there shall be nothing to hurt the case of Elna Jepson If she is hurt, I'll find each one of you and smash you up if I get prison for it."

Curtis dropped to the sofa, his head in his hands. He had hated and feared the thought of seeing his picture next a story against Elna. But why make it worse by antagonizing these men?

"Gentlemen, I have decided to give the picture—if you will let me tell what I know about Elna Jepson. After all it's my picture and I ought to have a say"

Curtis shut his mind to the flash globes. They gave him time to think carefully, to choose his words simply—but to give them the picture of Elna. He must make it true. It must be the real Elna, the Elna he knew

* * *

Soon the reporters found that they were taking down his slow words verbatim. He was not sentimental. He told what the public wanted to know—how she had first worn the red hat as a symbol of defiance against all who opposed her father's ideas at his death. He stressed her expression of anger—how she turned white and still, not moving, and then was sorry. He slipped in anecdotes, but each illustrated character.

No one had time to notice how pale his face had grown, no longer boyish, with sweat pouring down his cheeks. He was concentrating on those words, exact words, true to Elna.

"There has never been an 'Enigma Woman.' There has always been only Elna Jepson."

"Gosh, what a side bar!"

"It's all right. It'll go," said James of the All American Alliance in his quiet voice. "Fact is, it's the finest side bar I ever read—by an amateur.

"What's a side bar?" James had said his picture of Elna would go!

"A side bar is—well, with the change of a letter, it might be a kind of drink to the boys if I let them have it But I'm going to shoo every one of them to their office typewriters, and suggest that the janitor lock them in until their ring for the telegraph indicates a sufficient amount of sober copy. This story must be right."

"You seem to take a lot of trouble," Graham said, wondering.

"I don't, always. You have the advantage of being Miss Jepson's oldest friend, and she hardly knows me from the rest of the press gang. Nobody in the world knows it, not even my boss, who would probably think it might make for errors to be hopelessly in love with the defendant in a murder case. I told you because I thought you felt the same way about her."

"I do," Curtis said "But she turned me down because she needed nobody to take care of her—one of those Jepson ideas, by the way."

"Well, go dnt battling bailiffs and jumping through courtroom windows, and she may change her mind." James smiled.

Some hours later Elna leaned over the papers. Her name no longer bore the banner line The front page of each paper bore in a box the words of Graham. James had captioned his simply: "This is Elna." She liked that.

She had no time to look at them all. Romance . . . adventure . . . the man who dared—such words peppered the columns of the main story. She looked up, startled, from another reading of Graham's words and said aloud: "But how did he know so much about me? Why, he knows more than I know myself!"

Looking at her face in the mirror, and thinking for the first time that morning of the ordeal before her, she thought: This is a dangerous way, but the only way, the true way. Some one in the jury may see that no guilty woman would dare it—Curtis would see that, I think. I shall always speak as if he were there.

Curtis was in the front seat of the spectators' row in court that morning. He had achieved this desired position before dawn by jimmying the window through which he had leaped the day before. Elna did not even see him as she went directly to the witness chair.

"You were about to question the defendant at the last adjournment, Mr. McClung?" the judge began.

"Yes. Did you, or did you not murder Mrs. Holly Ainsworth?"

"No. Mrs Ainsworth died before my eyes by accident. Therefore there was no murder, and I could not have murdered her."

McClung glanced at his notes and frowned.

"Will you tell us your story in your own words?"

Elna's face was held high in the Jepson way, but its whiteness was alight with a new serenity. There could be no fear while Curtis believed in her always. She began:

"I told a story to the police which was read into the record The prosecution has pointed out discrepancies between that story and further investigations. So far as I see them, including the cross-examination of Inspector Jewell and the work done by his men, I accept that work as complete and correct.

"I consider that my original story has been discredited by the prosecution. I know the reason for the discrepancy. It has nothing to do with murder or attempted murder. I shall reveal it in no circumstances, for what I consider reasons of honor. I repeat, the discrepancy does not concern any crime. No third person was present."

"So Roger waited only to see whether I would involve him," Elna thought. "Well, it's true that no third person was there when I did the things which made an accident look like murder. The mistakes are all mine. I am not guilty of murder, but I am guilty of all else."

She accepted a glass of water with steady fingers, to cover her pause.

"The jury knows that motive is not necessary in a purely circumstantial case, but I doubt if any of the jury believe I killed Mrs. Ainsworth, months after, because of a dispute over a small slam which I finally won. However, you need not find any motive at all."

McClung was leaning his head on his arms. District Attorney Daniels was furiously rustling his papers. Elna's voice, steady and calm, was suddenly ringing.
